ASCAP, 19 Corporations, 26 Individuals, Are Fined

Buck, Mills and Paine Each Assessed $1,500 on Pleas of Nolo Contendere

MILWAUKEE, March 13 (P)—Federal Judge F. Ryan today fined the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers $5,000 after it had entered a plea nolo contendere to a charge of violating federal anti-trust laws.

Nineteen corporations affiliated with ASCAP, which also entered pleas of nolo contendere, were fined $500 each.

Gene Buck, president of the society, E. C. Mills, chairman of the administrative committee, and John Paine, general manager, each were fined $1,500 when they entered pleas of nolo contendere.

Twenty-three other defendants, directors or officers of ASCAP, were fined $500 each. The judge said that he wanted to make clear that he was finding the defendants guilty and assessing the fines "for the purpose of the law only." Attorneys interpreted the fine as meaning that the pleas and the fines could not be used against them in any civil actions.

20 Defendants in Court
Twenty of the individual defendants were present in court. All the corporations were represented by counsel. The judge had ordered all individual defendants to appear, but six could not be present and the judge accepted pleas entered by counsel.

The defendants were named in all of criminal information here filed on charges of 10 specific violations of the anti-trust laws. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Administration Measure To Raise Taxes To Equalize Pay of White and Negro Teachers Attacked

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 13 (P)—The Senate Education committee had before it tonight a record heavy with conflict on the matter of instructing students in safe automobile operation.

While boosters of a proposed bill to inaugurate driving courses at county high schools maintained that "seven to nine" state policemen would be required as instructors, opponents of the legislation asserted that forty-three officers would be necessary.

Government Calls On Craftsmen To Sign Immediately For Defense Jobs

Shortage of Skilled Labor
within Few Months
Feared by Paul V. McNutt and Other Leaders

WASHINGTON, March 13 (P)—In another sweeping move to step up armaments production, the government tonight called for a voluntary registration, beginning Saturday, March 15 of all workers available for making vital defense goods.

Expressing concern over the supply of labor available for defense industries during the next few months, Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, appealed to unemployed workers throughout the country and to every person with an "urgently needed skill" to give his name immediately to the nearest state employment service office.

Meanwhile, A. J. Altmeier, social security board chairman, revealed that labor shortages already had developed in about thirty occupations.

Appeal from Knudsen
The appeal for registration was made at the request of the Office of Production Management. Altmeier said he expected 1,000,000 to 1,300,000 men and women not now on active rolls of the employment service to register within the next 30 days. There now are approximately 5,000,000 persons on employment service rolls, of whom Altmeier estimated 185,000 possess skills for defense jobs of various sorts.

McNutt asked skilled and experienced workers in the following occupations to register with the state employment services at once, provided they are not now using these skills in their present jobs.

1. In aircraft manufacturing—Airplane sheet metal workers, inspectors, and aeronautical engineers.

2. In shipbuilding—Ship carpenters, loftsmen, boatbuilders, shipfitters, caulkers, and marine machinists.

3. In machine shops and machine manufacturing—Machinists, tool makers, lathe operators, die makers and tool designers.

One-Hour Test Of Pregnancy Is Declared Success

Doctors Hail New Discovery as Most Remarkable Ever Made

By WILLIS YOUNG
CHICAGO, March 13 (P)—Development of a simple one-hour test for pregnancy, probably the most remarkable discovery of its kind ever made, was announced today by the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

The new method is a skin test, very much like those used for allergy such as hay fever. Besides indicating pregnancy in thirty minutes to an hour, it is easy to give and inexpensive.

The university's doctors have quietly made several hundred trials of the new test during the past year. They reported that it is ninety-eight per cent reliable and detects pregnancy as early as two weeks.

Glasgow and Liverpool Bombed by Nazi Fliers

Luftwaffe Heavily Bombards British Cities and Reports Setting at Least Twenty Fires

BERLIN, March 14 (Friday) (P)—The German Luftwaffe singled out Glasgow for its heaviest overnight raids, authorized sources said today. The Scottish city's important war industries and its harbor were attacked by the strongest German units.

Reports wireless ahead from turning bombers said at least twenty huge fires were visible after the first wave of bombers passed. "British acknowledged a raid hours long on a northeastern city last night and early today."

Other units renewed the bombardment of Liverpool and Birkenhead, dropping explosives and incendiaries which "continued the work of destruction" started at these Mersey ports Wednesday night.

It also was reported that "effective attacks have been directed since last evening against industrial sections, food storage plants and supply warehouse of a number of other Scottish and English cities."

Claim Sharper Weapons
The followup of the previous night's attacks came after the Germans had declared they had contrived new and sharper air and sea weapons for "the battle of the Atlantic."

Nation Warned Triple Alliance Has Superior Fleet

By REG INGRAHAM
WASHINGTON, March 13 (P)—A $3,446,585,144 bill to help finance the two-ocean navy started on its way through Congress today spurred by an official warning that the Axis nations possess greater potential sea power than the United States and that the already dangerous world situation may grow worse.

The House Appropriations committee stamped its approval on the bill containing funds to carry the naval expansion program forward during the year starting July 1, and administration leaders said it was scheduled for House passage tomorrow.

At the same time, the committee made public testimony from Secretary Knox and other members of the naval high command delivered during secret hearings on the measure which started Feb. 3.

Scotty Found Mines, But Denies He Has Any Gold

"Desert Rat" Comes into Court with Black Eye; Wealth a Mystery

LOS ANGELES, March 13 (P)—Death Valley Scotty found a lot of gold mines but doesn't have any now, he said in federal court today.

First-day testimony in the accounting suit of Julian M. Gerard of New York against the desert ratore a bit into the mystery of Scotty, but did not solve it.

Scotty testified that he located seventeen claims in the Funeral mountains of Death Valley thirty-seven years ago. He had described them in letters written between 1902 and 1904 as very rich, one at least being worth about $5,000,000. But Gerard failed to furnish money for development and they were abandoned, he said.

All efforts of Gerard's attorneys to show that Scotty has had any money from gold prospects since 1907 failed.

"Have you a mine now?" he was asked. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

"Death Valley Scotty" came into court sporting this black eye. "Ain't she a beauty?" he asked, going on to explain he was slapped in the eye by the bride on his mule when the animal tried to kiss him.

Refuse To Keep Mines Running Pending Accord With the Union

Employers Say They Acted
Because Resolution
Makes Pay Increases
Retroactive from Apr. 1

NEW YORK, March 13 (P)—A proposal by John L. Lewis to keep the nation's soft coal mines running pending settlement of differences between management and labor was rejected by major bituminous operators today shortly after they also rejected miners' demands for blanket wage increases and improved working conditions.

These developments created at least a temporary impasse in biennial contract negotiations for nearly 450,000 members of the United Mine Workers of America (UMWA) in the eight-state Appalachian area. The joint conference then named subcommittees to thresh out miners' demands and operators' counter proposals in an effort to reach a new contract replacing the one expiring March 31.

The committees—four men from each side—will begin joint discussions tomorrow while the general conference remains in recess to await reports.

Operators Give Reason
Operators said they rejected the no-work stoppage proposal because the Lewis resolution stipulated that any wage increases or better working conditions agreed upon after the present contract expires be retroactive from next April 1.

Charles O'Neill of New York, delegate spokesman for the operators, said this stipulation could impose upon operators a "contingent liability running into many millions of dollars."

He accused Lewis of not offering the resolution in good faith and declared that the president of the UMWA was attempting to attract favorable public opinion through such an offer.

Lewis, he said, would be placed in such a position by the resolution that he could filibuster the conference and could delay negotiations for strategy purposes.

Lewis Denies Charges
Lewis immediately took the floor to deny O'Neill's assertions and to explain that the UMWA believed it was making a contribution to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Opponents Declare Cost

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 13 (P)—The Senate Education committee had before it tonight a record heavy with conflict on the matter of instructing students in safe automobile operation.

While boosters of a proposed bill to inaugurate driving courses at county high schools maintained that "seven to nine" state policemen would be required as instructors, opponents of the legislation asserted that forty-three officers would be necessary.

The latter estimate, made by Washington 1 Cleveland, representing the governors' Traffic Safety committee, was supported by Col. Beverly Ober, superintendent of state police.

On the other hand, Delegate S. Denmead Kolb (D-Wicomico) who is leading the fight for the bill's passage, said the estimate was "ridiculous" and held to the "seven to nine" figure.

Ober estimated that the cost of detailing a state policeman as a driving instructor would be approximately $3,500 a year. To keep (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Nazi Parachutist Lands in Ireland

DUBLIN, March 13 (P)—Guards at Taghmon, county Wexford, today arrested a stranger who stated that he had landed by parachute during the night from a German plane at a town called Ballycullane in the same county. It was officially announced tonight.

There was no report of any forced landing by any plane in the district where he descended.

Seven Canadians Killed in Crash Of Two Bombers

Training Planes Collide
While 2,000 Feet in the Air

BONEHEAD, Ont., March 13 (P)—Two Canadian bombers touched wings in the air today and plunged at least seven men to death.

The pilot and co-pilot of one were among the dead. Three others in the same machine were said to have died before ambulances arrived.

The radio operator of the other plane and another man were taken alive from the wreckage in which two others were dead.

The radio man identified himself as Don Flowers and said the planes came from Goderich, a town near the Port Albert training base.

Royal Canadian Air Force officials said the planes probably were from Port Albert, where the commanding officer said he was investigating "a report of a crash."

One witness, Leo Paxton, said the planes collided over this town thirty-five miles from Toronto.

The planes, described as twin-engined bombers, collided at about 2,000 feet, another witness said.

One exploded on striking the earth.

It was the second crash involving training planes in two days.

British-French
War Predicted

OTTAWA, Ont., March 13 (P)—The British Broadcasting Corporation announced today that the German-controlled Paris radio had broadcast a statement that British refusal to relax the blockade of France might put France at war against Britain.

"We are putting before Britain the choice of peace or war with France," BBC quoted the Paris station. BBC's report was picked up by the Canadian Broadcasting Company.

Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan asserted at Vichy Monday that France would arm and convey her merchant ships if the British continued to intercept them.

Italians Fail in New Drive To Subdue Greeks

Fresh Fascist Infantrymen Thrown into Action in Futile Attempt To Advance in Albania

ATHENS, March 13 (P)—The Italian command in Albania threw fresh infantrymen into the assault on a wide front today in what Greek sources termed a continuing series of strong but futile thrusts.

The attacks, which Greek headquarters stemmed from Premier Mussolini's on-the-spot orders to his generals to "do something" by Saturday, were supported by strong artillery fire and a large number of planes.

Italian losses were heavy, the Greek command stated, and two Italian planes were shot down while the Greek aviation bombed Italian military objectives.

Already in six days, Fascist losses have been placed unofficially at more than 10,000, including 2,000 (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Replacement of War planes by U. S. Encourages RAF To Risk Present Ships in Raids

LONDON, March 13 (P)—Britain's pilots, thankfully dropping the campaign of caution imposed upon them from the start of the war by the Nazi superiority in supply, rode the air lanes over German territory today in a great developing offensive made possible by the replacements of war planes expected from the United States.

The counter thrusts of the Nazis, meantime, appeared to be faring badly. Before midnight tonight, sixteen German raiders, most of them expensive bombers, had been reported shot down in a period of some twenty-four hours.

In an informed quarter it was made plain, with restrained exultation, that the days of Britain's "penurious defensive" strategy in the air were over and done; that, by President Roosevelt's signature of the Lease-Lend bill, Britain is able at last "to launch a really offensive war" in the skies.

"We were not able to risk exhausting our reserves before because we had quite frankly reached the point where we just didn't have the money for replacing on a cash and carry basis," said the source.

But now—

Powerful Daylight Attack
Explosions rolled across the English channel this afternoon to signal a running broad-daylight British bombing attack upon the Nazi-held French coast which was centered about Calais. An airfield there was heavily hit. It was announced officially, and bombs burst also upon grounded German aircraft.

British fighter planes swept the channel areas and northern France at about the same time. It was added, destroying a German bomber which had sought to cross the English coast. It was the twelfth Nazi raider reported downed since last nightfall.

In all this operation, which capped a long assault of yesterday and last night from Boulogne to Berlin and from Norway south to the Belgian ports, only one British plane was declared lost.

New Bombers in Action
"New and more powerful bombers"—their name and make of origin not disclosed by the air ministry—went into action with the heaviest explosives in the British arsenal.

Berlin, the ministry said, was left alight with tremendous fires; so (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Leaders Agree on Plan To Mediate Labor Disputes

Details Withheld, but Leaders Submit Findings To Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—An agreement on a concrete plan for a federal mediation board to handle labor disputes in defense industries was reached today by administration labor and defense production officials.

Secretary Perkins, William S. Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management, and Sidney Hillman, associate director, took the proposal to the White House and laid it before President Roosevelt. There was no immediate word as to the chief executive's reaction.

While details of the plan were withheld, it was indicated that it did not propose as broad powers for the board as were considered at one time. Study has been given for weeks to the idea of creating a board similar to the World War agency which handled labor disputes by voluntary compliance of labor and industry.

Roosevelt's Views Given

At a recent press conference, President Roosevelt indicated that if such a board were created it might have broader duties than did the World War board. For instance, he said, it might be charged with formulating a long-range program to prevent concentration of labor in a few key cities after the current emergency is over.

Hillman said, however, that the proposal given Mr. Roosevelt today did not include planning for the future. At the same time, he emphasized that "what will eventually materialize is up to the president."

Size of Board Undecided

In addition to presentation of the plan, there was a general discussion of principles with the president, the group said.

To G. B. Hillman added that various possibilities were mentioned, including boards of eleven, seven and five members. There was no discussion, he declared, of prospective members.

Members of the group said that no legislation would be necessary to carry out their plan; that it could be done by executive action.

At the capital, meantime, Congress received differing views on the effect of recent work stoppages in defense industries.

Strikes Retard Defense

Using immediate enactment of legislation to restrict strikes in plants engaged in production for the army and navy, Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Naval committee declared that strikes since the beginning of 1940 had cost enough man-hours to build 325 modern bombers.

Vinson testified before the House Judiciary committee which is considering various proposals to restrict work stoppages in defense industries.

Women's Jury

from women favoring adoption of the legislation. Letters against the proposal were "insignificant in number," he added.

In answer to arguments that women should not be permitted on juries because some cases were "unpleasant," Gordin pointed out there were women magistrates in Maryland who heard serious cases.

Lindsay contended Maryland women "don't want to serve on juries. And I will oppose making women do something they don't want to do."

Ways Open for Energy

He said women urging passage of the jury bill could use their energy to "help the welfare of the state in other endeavors."

The teachers' equalization bill is a part of the administration's program to give negro teachers the same salaries as whites. A recent federal court opinion made equalization of teachers' pay mandatory.

To finance the equalization program, the governor had legislation introduced to impose a special tax on half-mile tracks, and to increase the tax rate in counties, excess liquor and education funds also would be used for the equalization.

Senator John Funk (D-Fredrick) moved that the bill be recommitted to the senate finance committee. He and Senators Robert Kimble (R-Allegany) and E. Stuard Bushong (D-Washington), led opposition to the bill.

Punk said he was not opposed to equalizing the teachers' salaries but was against the proposed method of effecting it. He asked that the Finance committee seek other means of financing the equalization.

Roe, backing up the administration, asserted, "If this measure is defeated we will have to start all over again to equalize teachers' salaries."

Bill To Curb Loan Companies

Through pressure of a group of delegates, a bill to reduce interest rates charged by a small loan companies was brought out of the house insurance and loans committee, and placed on third reading.

The measure, amended today, would place the interest rate at two per cent a month on loans not exceeding $300. Originally, the bill would have cut the rate from 3 1/2 per cent to 1 1/2 per cent.

Delegate Paul L. Cordish (D-Fourth Baltimore) committee chairman, opposed a petition bringing the bill to the floor, charging a "certain group of lobbyists" was behind the measure, and saying he wanted to compare the bill with one being prepared by the administration.

Delegate Fred H. Houck (D-Balti-

The measure was placed on second reading, and passed to third reading with the two per cent amendment by Houck.

Would Inspect Used Cars

In the Senate, Senator E. Stuart Bushong (D-Washington) introduced a bill to require safety inspections of all used cars before certificates of title could be issued to the purchasers. Fees of fifty cents would be charged, and the commissioner of motor vehicles would designate the inspectors.

Earlier, the Senate killed a measure to redraw the lines of Baltimore city's six election districts, along recommendations of a redistricting commission.

Among the new bills received by the House was a measure by Delegate Albert W. Woodfield (D-Anne Arundel) to restrict and regulate the catch of shad and herring in Maryland's tidal waters.

The measure is designed to increase Maryland's dwindling supply of these fin fish. The shad catch has dropped from 8,000,000 pounds to less than 500,000 pounds a year in the past 20 years, due to overfishing, conservation officials have said.

Funds for Disabled

Funds for vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons would be included in the state public school budget under a bill introduced by Delegate S. Demmead Kolb (D-Wicomico) and fifty other delegates.

A "fire insurance rating bureau" to establish uniform rates for fire insurance would be created under a bill introduced by Delegate George W. Owings, Jr. (D-Calvert).

The House Judiciary committee received from Assistant Attorney General High Meade an amendment to make the anti-sabotage act apply to defense work for friendly nations as well as for this country. The anti-sabotage proposal is opposed by organized labor spokesmen.

Legislation introduced yesterday in the Senate to put a $2,000,000 "ceiling" on the state's surplus, with revenue in excess of this going to reduce the state real estate tax, brought an expression of approval from Governor O'Connor.

Government Calls

the employment service did not encourage or desire workers now employed in any of these industries to register.

McNitt emphasized that other employed workers with vital defense skills were not being asked to leave their present jobs but merely to register their qualifications with the nearest office of their state employment service so that they may be called upon if needed in an important defense industry.

All unemployed men and women able to work also were asked to register so that defense officials might have a complete picture of the country's labor resources in terms of availability for anticipated job openings or for training in defense occupations.

Letter to Workers

In connection with the registration appeal, Sidney Hillman, associate director general of the office of production management, addressed a letter to "all American workers," saying:

"In the next few months hundreds of thousands more of you will be needed to speed up the national defense program in shops, factories, shipyards—to build new plants for industry, shelter for civilian defense workers camps for soldiers.

"If you are out of work and looking for a job, register at once at the nearest local employment office.

"If you have a skill useful for defense work but which you are not using in your present job, register at once at the nearest local employment office. x x x

"This registration is voluntary. It is the democratic way. Its success depends on you. I am confident that each one of you will consider it his personal and patriotic duty to see to it that this registration does succeed."

New Weapon Used Against Germans

LONDON, March 13 (AP)—Referring briefly today to a new "secret weapon" against night raiders, the British Press Association recalled without comment an Italian report of some time ago about "a new English weapon" described as a projectile containing a coil of steel wires which unwound themselves.

The reports at the time said the steel ribbons were expected to spread out like a spider web when the shell exploded, snaring propellers and wings of any aircraft within reach. Properly spaced, the shells were supposed to fill the sky for a few minutes, at least, with a menace as deadly as the cables trailing from fixed and far less numerous barrage balloons.

Lewis added that he and union leaders had been "approached by utilities, national defense industrialists and others urging miners to adopt some sort of formula to keep the mines open in view of the national emergency. He indicated that many industries were storing up coal through fear of some production interruption.

Earlier, the operators had presented their counter demands to the union's requests and asked that the miners agree to continue the present contract for two more years. Operators said they were flatly rejecting union pleas for a $1-a-day blanket wage increase, paid vacations, a guaranteed 200-day work year, and numerous other requests.

Ask Longer Week

A management statement of policy said the operators also would ask the conference to consider a forty or forty-two hour week to replace the present thirty-five-hour schedule in view of the national defense program. O'Neill said such an increase would boost miners' earnings and increase production.

Present Plans Do Not Contemplate Draft Extension

But National Guard Troops Are Likely To Serve More than a Year

BALTIMORE, March 13 (AP)—State selective service headquarters said today that no extension beyond the one-year period of service for draft selectees is contemplated now, although National Guard troops recently inducted into federal service may be on duty longer than that.

Under the present schedule, selectees will not join the Twenty-ninth division made up of guardsmen from Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia, until late in April or May. The division's training at Fort George G. Meade.

Year Ends February 3

The division's year will be completed next February 3, which would mean, officials said, that if the national guardsmen returned home then the selectees assigned to the division would have to remain in training from three to four months longer without a regular organization.

For this reason, authorities said, it has been proposed that the guard remain in training until the selectees' period is completed.

However, the selective service law provides that all draft selectees remain on the reserve list for ten years after they have been in active training for one year; and they may be called for refresher courses at any time.

Deferments for Medical Men

At the same time, Lieut. Col. Amos R. Koontz, medical director at selective service headquarters, said he had notified local draft boards that they may give individual deferments to students in class a medical schools. He said he opposed legislation which would give blanket deferments to medical students.

During the last year, "Colonel Koontz said, some belligerent nations gave no deferment to medical students and the result was a great shortage of doctors in those countries during the year's succeeding the war."

"It is believed, however, that nothing is to be gained at the present time by taking medical students away from their duties and have them serve in the army for a year as privates."

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

There was obviously a direct connection between enactment of the American Aid-for-Britain bill and the furious British-German exchange of air blows that followed.

The British wanted to give a bomb-illustrated notice to the German people that they can expect more and worse immediately.

The German counter blow at the Liverpool areas was obviously planned to follow up the Nazi boast that American help will come "too late" for England.

Accounts Conflict

Conflicting accounts of losses and damage do not obscure the most significant fact of that night of air duelling. It is, as the British say, a demonstration that Britain has held in reserve a powerful and slowly accumulated bomber force, now turned loose.

With replacements assured by the American aid program, Britain can risk her reserve in stepping-up of offensive action. She is already reaching out to harvest the first fruits of American help.

From the outset of the war Britain has faced a difficulty in shaping her plane production program. She has had to concentrate the bulk of her own production capacity at home on fighter craft. They were vital for defense of England from invasion. They could not be procured overseas except by sea and subject to the perils of the Nazi air-and-U-boat blockade. Only heavy bombers can span the Atlantic on their own wings.

Production Restricted

The concentration on fighters has necessarily restricted British bomber production at home. Britain has looked across the Atlantic for the assured supply of a attack aircraft that could arm her to launch an aerial offensive on a major scale. And she could get and has gotten bombers from the New World by air, regardless of the Nazi sea blockade.

How many of the ships that blasted at Berlin or other targets in Germany may have first flown across the Atlantic is unrevealed.

Count on U. S. Bombers

But it is clear that the British are counting heavily on air-ferried planes to meet future bomber replacement requirements and steadily increase the size of the long-range bombers fleet.

That is what the stepped-up blasting at Berlin and other distant targets means. With American financial aid and industrial help assured, there is no longer reason for the British to conserve their bomber strength unduly. They have thrown their reserve into action now to seize the offensive in the air. Indications are that the British bomber force now is available for attack upon the gathering storm of the Battle of the Atlantic.

Drop All

too, were the main German ports of Hamburg and Bremen.

Off Jutland, in the North Sea, a German destroyer was declared squarely hit on the stern by an aerial torpedo; attacked, also it was added, was a big supply ship anchored in Igmidien harbor of the Netherlands and other vessels off Ostend, Belgium.

A Norwegian airdrome was bombed, the ministry's account said, along with others in The Netherlands and with various targets in northwest Germany and the low countries generally.

The attack on Berlin was the first since Dec. 20, and it was intimated that there would be no more immunity for Hitler's capital.

In the offensive sweep during the night—exclusive of today's operations—the loss of five British planes was acknowledged.

Military Outlay 30 Billions Seen During This Year

Robert L. Mehornay Says His Figure Is Conservative Estimate

CLEVELAND, March 13 (AP)—The chief of the government's contract service declared today proper military expenditures of twelve and one-half billion dollars would accelerate to a total of thirty billion in the next nine and a half months. The official, Robert L. Mehornay, said "it is a conservative estimate that the amount of contracts and supplies—exclusive of aircraft and shipping—will be more than five times as much by the end of the year as up to date."

Addressing a closing session of a Cleveland speed-armsament conference, the former Kansas City banker-merchant broke down present contracts of twelve and one-half billion dollars into these rough figures:

Aircraft, two and one-half billion; ships, five billions; and "everything else—including such things as ammunition orders, new plants, plant expansion and closing," five and one-half billions.

Stating there was little expectation of any substantial increase in orders for aircraft and fighters, he declared another seven and one-half billion dollars would be spent on supplies and the like before the end of 1941.

Of the twelve and one-half billion worth contracts already placed, he added, delivery has been obtained on three billion dollars worth. Mehornay also disclosed that to date, approximately one and a half billions had been spent for 302 new plants, and another 400 millions for expansion of existing plants.

Labor Shortage Predicted

The contract service head also asserted "ordnance produced too fast may be used by our adversaries." He demanded "more acceptable defense materials in less time," and disclosed the aluminum-utensil industry has been told it is "out of business." Another speaker warned industry will feel "the real pinch" of a labor shortage by late August, or early September.

Before his address Mehornay told newsmen that sixty members of the Aluminum Utensils Manufacturers' association had been advised they would not be able to get any aluminum after they use supplies now on hand and were "out of business."

About 21,000 workers in the aluminum kitchen utensil field will be made idle or forced into defense work by the restriction, Mehornay estimated. Aluminum is needed principally for aircraft production.

THE DAILY STORY

STRATEGY

A Man May Die, but His Spirit, if Strong Enough, Will Come Back Whenever Needed—and Aline Needs It Now

By C. J. EUSTACE

"Well, well—if it isn't Granny Hughes in person!"

She could have sworn it was Crummet speaking, only of course Crummet was dead. The long curtains were awaying and it was evident that he had entered the room by the French windows which were open.

"I think your an impertinent young man," she protested. "Come

HE CLASPED HER HANDS

"Better tell her, Tim. Women like to be told what they know already. But tell her after you've got her."

"Granny," he whispered, surprised, "you wouldn't kid me, would you?"

"Listen, Tim, I'll tell you something. When I was your age I was in love with a young man. His name was Hughes, and we called him Crummet. He had no money, no position, but he was in love with me. And I was in love with him. Only I wasn't sure until he took me out and kissed me harder than anyone ever had before."

"By love, Granny, you don't think—"

"That's what a woman wants. Tim, and you don't need money or position to do that."

Granny Hughes smiled to herself in the queerest fashion. "Father threatened to horsewhip Crummet if he caught him on the premises again. But mother said I'd be happy with Crummet if I could keep him. Father couldn't like Crummet so long as Derry Thom was around. Derry came from a county family, and he was proper and rich."

The old lady was immersed in her dreams, and Timothy Sampson fell on one knee before her, and kept her hand in his.

"Go on," he whispered.

"So Crummet took me, I got out of my bedroom window at the back by making my sheets into a rope.

Poor Crummet was so sick crossing the sea! We lived in Paris for a while. Have you ever been to Paris, Tim? There are so many trees and parks, and nobody takes any notice of you, and your business is your own. And our business was love."

The old lady was silent. Timothy sat with his legs crossed on the floor.

"Don't be a fool, Tim, and give up what you want," she snapped suddenly. "They'll come in here when they're tired of dancing. They always do. I hear what they say, because they think I'm old and asleep."

A must of music swept in upon them, and the door closed behind two figures just as Timothy Sampson dodged behind the long, wine-colored curtains.

The old lady sat with her head forward. Aline uptied up to her and peeped into her face.

"Dead to the world, poor darling," she whispered.

"Then come over here," said Timothy Crummet. "I've got something to say to you."

When their backs were turned, the old lady's eyes opened and one of her fluttering hands curtsied toward the wine-colored curtains.

The curtains responded with a quiver. Aline curled herself up on the Chesterfield, her head resting on a cushion below the level of the back.

"I saw your dad tonight," said Timothy's voice, curiously compressed, suave, soft. "He says it's up to you, Aline. But if you agree, then he's pleased. I can give you everything you want."

The old lady, her head cocked to one side, listened shamelessly.

"Why, Tommy, I—I do like you."

"Is there someone else?"

"I—I don't think so."

"Well, then—"

Granny Hughes moaned loudly and clutched at her side. The next instant Aline's strong, young arms were around her shoulders.

"Granny, darling, you're ill. What is it?"

"Heart," she whispered. "Brandy, Tommy, she fixed him with her gleaming dark eyes, 'run and get the doctor, Aline, stay with me.'"

Tommy Crummet bolted, his black tails streaming behind him. The old lady struggled free from Aline's arms. With a sudden wrench and with surprising strength, she stood up.

"Now," she cried, "now, Crummet!"

Suddenly Aline found herself engulfed in a pair of steel arms, powerful fingers clamped over her mouth. The French window behind the curtains were open, she found, as she felt herself lowered to the ground. Then they were racing over bumpy ground. By and by the lights were left behind and a cool moist breeze fanned her face.

Only then did the arms relax their pressure and she was lowered gently to the ground.

"Tim," she gasped furiously, "how dare you—"

"Isn't Granny Hughes a marvelous woman?" he exclaimed. "I'm proud she's going to be my grandmother."

Aline stood facing him, her breath coming and going.

"Timothy Sampson!" she gasped, "what do you mean by this. You must be crazy."

He stooped and drew her up roughly into his arms. It was a rough, long kiss, and they both stood apart afterwards.

"Was that the hardest one you've ever had in your life?" he asked.

"Oh, Tim," she cried suddenly. Her arms were around his neck, her head against his shoulder.

"Crummet was right," Timothy said with a laugh.

Engagement Not
Marriage Affair,
Girls Are Warned

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX, Famous
Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage — Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Girls sometimes write me that they regard their engagements as seriously as if all the vows had been spoken. To them an engagement means the same as marriage. The men to whom they are betrothed become their husbands in fact.

Leaving out all questions of morals and considering only worldly interests and hard common-sense, I wonder what the reactions of these easily convinced young women are when they read in the papers of the tragic-comedies which result from such an arrangement.

Newspaper dispatches a few days ago give a lively account of the wedding of a country banker and a young cashier. At least she was young and pretty when the wedding began, thirteen years ago, and she agreed to one of these sacred-as-marriage affairs. She is now suing him for $100,000 damages.

Long Trips Together
It would be cruel to give the name of this woman, no longer young, and shedding the unbecoming tears of middle-age in court to a jury. Frequently she went on long vacation trips with the country banker, where they registered at various hotels as Mr. and Mrs. On these vacations lobsters and fine wines were ordered liberally. And the girl seems to have regarded such expensive viands as the equivalent of a wedding ring.

The banker's experience recalls the predicament in which Mr. Pickwick found himself after sending the well-known message to his housekeeper, "Chops and tomato sauce." But the lobsters and champagne stood for nothing more serious in the banker's life than did chops and tomato sauce to Dickens' hero.

On a balmy June night some few years back, the banker proposed marriage, according to the testimony of the plaintiff. He said the usual thing. Their love was different and meant more to him than anything else, but he did not say what is usually said by gentlemen in such circumstances that his "wife never understood him," for, at the time he was still married and his wife had not secured a divorce. However, he gave the girl a "temporary" engagement ring of diamonds and sapphires.

Excuse Always Ready
Whenever the young lady brought up the question of marriage, which she did with some persistence after his wife divorced him, he always had an excuse. Finally, after all these years of ardent wooing, he told her he had changed his mind and was not going to marry her. She told him he had made her the object of pity and censure, and promptly fled suit.

The headlines recently revealed a similar suit. This time the young man is of the inner circle of what was formerly known as the "Four Hundred." Again it was one of these "sacred-as-marriage engagements." They went to Elkhart, then on a twenty-four hour shift at the Gretina Green of the United States, with signboards six feet high outside many of the houses, saying that a marrying person was to be found within. But the scion of the Four Hundred backed out at the last minute, his excuse being that his name was too important to be chronicled in such a place as Elkhart. It would cause talk. So they went somewhere else and took their marriage vows without benefit of clergy. I believe a large square-cut diamond sealed the agreement.

Binding in Scotland
If these things had taken place in Scotland, the common-law marriage would have been considered binding; not so in Maryland. The lady's suit for alimony and council fees was thrown out of court.

These two illustrations occurring in the day's news should make girls "pause and think," as Lenton's sermon sometimes begin. To their sorrow, many acquiescent young ladies have discovered that neither the man, the courts nor the world regard an engagement as sacredly binding as marriage. — Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Headaches, Their Cause and Cure
Are Discussed by Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Headaches may be acute, chronic or recurrent. The acute headache is usually due to infection or absorption, indigestion, constipation, stoppage of the nose with a cold, or something fairly easy to understand. It is the kind for which headache tablets were especially made.

Chronic headache may be due to eyestrain or sinus disease, in which case it is fairly easy to treat. Most instances, in my experience, are due to an unstable nervous system and are real problems.

The recurrent headache is almost always some form of migraine. A great many doctors say that migraine is a myth and not a disease. I have always held that it is a very real disease and can be detected and diagnosed, and separated from other forms of headache. Of the thousands of causes that have been suggested for it, none of them really hold water. It usually begins in early adult life and ends at the climacteric—male or female. Classically, it occurs on one side of the head and is accompanied by nausea.

Treatment of Migraine
For years, doctors have been trying to find the cause of migraine. Now comes Dr. Bayard T. Horton of Rochester, Minnesota, with a description of a type of headache which is recurrent, which is on one side of the head, and which may be one of the forms of migraine. He has shown that the treatment of it is very successful with the use of a medicine called "histamine" and probably the attacks are related to the action of histamine which is produced by the body cells themselves under certain circumstances. Histamine has an action on the blood vessels and it is probable that this headache is due to dilatation or constriction of the arteries.

The headache, as I say, is recurrent. It begins, unlike migraine, usually after the onset of middle age. It occurs on one side of the head. It often comes at night and is almost always accompanied by excessive secretion of tears in the eye on the side of the head affected. Some of the patients whom Doctor Horton has seen have been operated on for facial neuralgia without success.

FROU-FROU

Completely feminine as it veers away from the tailored touch is this bra and pantie set of silk. The panties are of silk satin with lace trimming, as is the band. The bra also is of lace.

Of particular importance in this study looms the possibility that it may be the beginning of a classification of different forms of migraine and as time goes on it is possible that we may discover a number of conditions which are the causes in the different groups of migraine patients.

Lenten Reducing Diet
As suggested by the chef of the Hotel Huntington, Pasadena, Cal. No seasoning on anything. Either coffee or tea (no sugar or cream with every meal).

Sixth Day
Breakfast: Grapefruit and coffee. Lunch: Ham, cheese, or chicken sandwich on rye toast, no butter. Dinner: Chopped meat, stewed tomatoes, endive or mixed salad, one-half grapefruit.

Seventh Day
Breakfast: Grapefruit and coffee. Lunch: Any appetizer, any meat, any salad, any vegetable, one-half helping of dessert.

Questions and Answers
E. M.—My little grandchild seems to walk with her toes inward. Is this just a habit that she will grow out of or should something be done about it?

Answer—Most children when they walk barefooted are slightly pigeon-toed, but one should not depend on this but should have consultation with an orthopedic surgeon to see that there is not a dangerous or exaggerated condition of pigeon-toe. It can usually be corrected by proper shoes or braces.

4-H Girls Will Hold Banquet Here March 28

Address by Miss Dorothy Emerson and a Play Will Be Features

An address by Miss Dorothy Emerson, girls' club agent from College Park, and an original play by two students at Frostburg State Teachers college will be features of the annual Allegany 4-H Girls' Trail Rally banquet, Friday March 28 at 6:30 o'clock in the recreation hall of the Centre street Methodist church.

Three hundred members of the Allegany county organizations will attend and hear three reports from members on 4-H activities last year.

Will Discuss Problems

Miss Emerson, one of the leaders in 4-H Club work will come from Western Maryland University to speak on various problems confronting the various organizations at the present time.

Miss Thelma Manahan and Josephine Richards, both members of the 4-H club at State Teachers college, wrote the play entitled, "When the Cat's Away" which features an elaborate style show. Costumes for the performance are being furnished by Hitchen's in Frostburg.

The play is an amusing comedy concerning a rather dumpy girl who goes to a dress shop in the hopes of being transformed into a "glamour girl". Nothing she tries on seems to fit or look becoming on her when an ingenious character in the play takes the girl in hand.

Heroine Sees the Light

This character shows the heroine that while she is basically attractive enough for all common purposes, the fact that she has neglected her posture and other important little matters are the factors that are really defeating her purpose. The heroine sees the light and the play has a happy ending when she emerges from the shop looking like Hedy Lamarr and proceeds to snag her football star.

The play will be given a tryout at the college before it is presented for the 4-H girls March 28.

The three reports to be given are:

- 1—A summary of the National Camp at Washington by Pauline House, of Cumberland.
- 2—A report on the American Country Life Association conference at Purdue university by Roberta Ritchie, of Lonaconing, and Helen Lechlitter, of Cresaptown.
- 3—The report on the Maryland 4-H Club Week program at College Park by Virginia Stonaker, of Cumberland.

Dinner music will be furnished by an orchestra composed of 4-H Club girls.

DOCTORS stress remaining in bed until the body temperature is normal. Sound advice.

You know how weak you feel after a cold. Colds play havoc in weakening the body. The story is well told in the blood picture. It is important to build back body strength right away to carry the load of work, worries, and loss of sleep. A weakened body may be more susceptible to relapse or long drawn out recovery.

So reason sensibly and take the choice of millions by immediately starting on a course of S.S. Tonic—taken three times a day immediately before meals. In the absence of a local infection or organic disease, you should note improvement in the way you feel and look within the first 10 days. The confidence of millions over many years is the best testimonial of this product.

An experience with S.S. Tonic will cause you to say to your friends, S.S. made me "feel and look like myself again."

British Attack Italian Island

CAIRO, Egypt, March 13 (AP)—British bombers carried out a heavy attack on airdromes on the Italian island of Rhodes last night, an RAF spokesman said tonight. Rhodes is in the Dodecanese Islands in the Eastern Mediterranean.

The communiqué said heavy explosions and fires were caused at the Dodecanese island of Scarpanto. The British reported fires visible twenty miles away after bombing an airdrome and hangars at Martiza, and said that at Calato and Kattavia "all bombs fell on airdromes."

Yugoslavs Ponder

ed to move civilians out of the line of march.

Turkey Undecided
Turkey still watched the situation calmly, but with warlike preparations. Officially inspired newspapers counseled the public to be calm, and assured the nation that defenses were "adequate" for any contingency.

In German quarters in Belgrade there were reports that Berlin was growing impatient for Yugoslavia's decision and might demand a quick reply to the "invitation to join the Axis."

Yugoslavs still carry over from World War days a hatred of the Germans, and, conversely, affection for Britain and France, who helped at Versailles to amalgamate the Serbs the numerous minor and antagonistic races which form this largest Balkan nation.

Leaders of the nation's army of a million still talk some of the possibility of military resistance, but political leaders in answer point to the map showing five Axis countries flanking Yugoslavia.

"Fight or die" advocates insist, however, that the army might carry on guerrilla warfare from the Serbian mountains, where blitzkrieg tactics would be of little value.

Prince Paul apparently was seeking to back into the Axis camp without so offending pro-British and Greek sentiment that his regime would fall.

Whether Berlin would accept Belgrade's offer to sign first a bilateral declaration of friendship seemed entirely up to Hitler. Yugoslavs themselves recognized however, that such a compromise with a little nation might be too great a blow to the diplomatic prestige of a nation which already dominates the continent.

Tobacco markets have lost export markets for an estimated 250,000,000 pounds since advent of the war.

As the situation looks at present, Woodrum replied, "this is what we (Hull, Stimson and Knox) think should be appropriated."

In response to further questions Woodrum said merely that it was impossible for anyone to say whether the $7,000,000,000 would be ample for the entire program.

Resume Hearings Today
The hearings are to be resumed tomorrow morning with Smith continuing his statement and William S. Hudson, in charge of defense production, presenting the views of the Office of Production Management.

Meanwhile, congressional officials said it was virtually definite that the thirty mosquito boats—useful in chasing submarines—would be sent to Britain soon. A transfer of destroyers was not so certain, but members of the House Naval Committee said these might be supplied to England as rapidly as requirements for the American fleet.

A total of thirteen new destroyers are scheduled to reach that stage before July 1. As they are commissioned, it was said, an equivalent number of old destroyers may be released to Great Britain. Small coast guard units and other vessels of the navy, too, may be included in the program, it was said.

While these developments were being placed, a high official of the navy told reporters that the navy and the Reconstruction Finance corporation were negotiating to take over some $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 worth of British war materials and British factories in the country. But this, he added, was in no way that the British be "relieved of the remainder of their obligations" here.

British obligations would be cut, he said by twenty to twenty-five per cent. This indicated that total British commitments for munitions and war materials were at $1,500,000,000.

department of gynecology and obstetrics, who has studied the problem since 1914; Dr. V. C. Freda of that department and Dr. H. H. Cohen of the physiological chemistry department. Dr. William H. Walker, head of the physiological chemistry department, acted as consultant.

The tests consists of injecting into the skin of the forearm, with a fine hypodermic needle, a minute amount of colostrum, a watery liquid secreted in the breasts during pregnancy.

How Test Works
No reaction occurs if the woman is pregnant, but if she isn't, the point of injection begins to look as if she had a mosquito bite. A reddish area one to two inches in diameter appears. This bump raises within an hour and disappears in four or five hours.

The colostrum contains a protein like those to which some persons are allergic. Women who are not pregnant are so sensitive to it that only 1-50 of a cubic centimeter, about the size of three pin heads, is needed for the test.

More Cold Weather Predicted by Bureau

BALTIMORE, March 13, (AP)—The Weather Bureau predicted somewhat colder weather in Maryland tonight, following snow flurries during the day, with lowest temperature in the Baltimore area expected to be about twenty-five degrees above zero.

Continued cold and mostly clear weather was forecast for tomorrow. The automobile club of Maryland reported that roads were open in all parts of the state, but snow continued to fall west of Cumberland and chains were advised.

Plan To Speed Work On Defense Highways

BALTIMORE, March 13 (AP)—Plans for speeding up improvements of defense highways in Maryland will be formulated at a meeting of federal, state and city officials here tomorrow.

Tentatively approved plans call for an improvement project costing $10,000,000 to eliminate transportation bottlenecks in strategic industrial and military areas around Baltimore and Washington.

Two of the roads included in the program are already being built. Wilson T. Ballard, chief engineer of the state roads commission, said today.

In progress are these two projects: widening and strengthening of the Port Meade road which runs from Shipley to Odenton and serves the army post; and widening of the existing Edgewood road serving Edgewood arsenal.

Other plans considered are those of new roads serving the naval powder plant at Indian Head, Fort Meade, Aberdeen and Edgewood arsenal.

Two Absolute Divorces Are Granted Here

Two absolute divorces were awarded yesterday in circuit court by Associate Judge William A. Hunter.

Absolute decrees were awarded to Edwin R. Wise, of North Centre street, from Mrs. Hilda Schloyer Wise; and to Mrs. Sarah Smith, Frostburg, from Horace C. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Wise were married in California in 1936 and lived together until 1939. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married in 1936 and separated in 1937. One child was born of the latter marriage.

The custody of the child was awarded to the mother, Edward J. Ryan, attorney, represented the petitioners in each case.

Gambler Says He Wrecked Schenck's Los Angeles Home

NEW YORK, March 13 (AP)—Al Wertheimer, a Hollywood gambler testified in Federal court today that in 1935 he took over the Los Angeles mansion of film executive Joseph M. Schenck, knocked down a couple of walls, put in a roulette wheel and created a gambling house—all without Schenck's knowledge.

Asked what Schenck's reaction was when he discovered the situation, Wertheimer, a witness in the income tax evasion trial of the film magnate, replied:

"He gave me the devil about it a few months later. He telephoned me and bawled me out after the district attorney and police had raided the place."

The arrangements for the use of the house, Wertheimer said, were made by him, his brother Lou, a friend of Schenck named Lou Anger and the mansion's caretaker Schenck was away at the time.

Wertheimer said he later paid Anger $2,000 for the damage done to the mansion, but he did not know whether Schenck ever received it.

10 Private Planes Forced Down in Storm

EMMITSBURG, Md., March 13 (AP)—Ten private airplanes enroute to New Orleans from Lockhaven, Pa., were forced down at the airport here today by bad weather.

One plane damaged a wing in landing. Propellers were broken on two others.

Pilots said they expected to take off again for New Orleans tomorrow if repairs could be completed. Accompanying the ships were: Robert White, Biloxi, Miss.

owner of eight of the planes: Lieut. Wilfred Stimson, air corps Louisiana national guard; Earl Lindley, Baton Rouge, La.; William Lawless, Richard Lawless, Louis Lade, William Wolfe, Chicago; Louis Crassa, and Miss Naomi Hicks, New Orleans; Raymond Kidd, owner of two planes and the New Orleans air college airport, flew with Miss Hicks.

Teachers Would Help

Cleveland proposed that teachers, properly qualified, be employed for the instruction, which he said would go to 8,884 pupils. Under the proposed bill, state policemen would give five hours of actual driving instruction and teachers would give fifteen hours of classroom instruction in careful operation of motor vehicles.

There was a disagreement on the general aims of the bill and both sides agreed it would be a step toward "showing the way to solve our traffic accident problems."

Several compromises were suggested during the hearing, including one to make the course elective in each county.

Hitler Ridiculed For Breaking Promise

STOCKHOLM, March 13 (AP)—The Norwegian Telegram bureau said today the Norwegian and British naval forces which raided the Lofoten Islands off Norway's northern coast on March 4, wirelessly Adolf Hitler from the islands that they were "very disappointed at the poor reception we have had here."

Drives into House, Explosion Follows

BALTIMORE, March 13 (AP)—It wasn't enough when Harry Britton's automobile smashed into a house where three families were asleep after crashing into a car on the street.

He stepped on his starter to back out—and bang! There was an explosion. The machine had broken a gas line into the house in the mixup. A blaze that resulted was extinguished quickly with damage only to cellar and first floor.

Britton wasn't hurt.

Circulation of Coins Worries the French

VICHY (AP)—When the French authorities ordered all five-centime pieces withdrawn from circulation they forgot one thing.

There are still very common twenty-five centime pieces in circulation, and Frenchmen wondered how they were to get change if they handed one in for a twenty-centime purchase.

Similarly, since many prices come out to a quarter or three-quarters of a franc, how was a purchaser to get his change if he only happened to have ten-centime pieces on him?

A month after the decree the government began to wonder, too, and published a new decree ordering all twenty-five centime pieces withdrawn.

"All of us had hoped you would keep your promises made in recent speeches that whenever allied forces landed on the continent of Europe they would be met by strong German forces eager to throw them out again," the bureau quoted the message.

Eggs Can Be Too Fresh, Is Seems

SEATTLE (AP)—West Coast farm-produced eggs are just "too fresh" for New Yorkers' palates, Earl Benjamin, egg industries chairman for the National Defense Commission, told the annual meeting of the Washington Co-operative Egg & Poultry Association.

The farmers laughed, but Benjamin, manager for Pacific Egg Producers, was never more serious.

He said the eggs shipped east by the co-op, after being gathered regularly, cooled carefully and oil-clipped at the farms, cook just like a fresh-laid egg and with the distinctive "fresh-laid flavor," and that it was proving a real job to "sell" them to palates accustomed to week-old egg flavors.

Chinese Build New Silk Village

HONGKONG (AP)—As part of a plan to revive China's silk industry, badly hit by the Sino-Japanese war, a "silk village" has been founded in the southwestern province of Yunnan. A sum equivalent to $1,500,000 has been invested.

The village is situated not far from the important Chinese tin mines at Kuchin, and lies in the midst of a tract of highland considered the most suitable spot in China's south-west for the growth of mulberry trees and the raising of silkworms.

Scores of refugees from the coastal provinces, with experience in raising silkworms, have come to settle down in the village. Simple machines have been introduced to convert the bark of mulberry trees into tissue paper, and silk refuse into clothing material.

There are an estimated 9,600,688 miles of automobile highways throughout the world.

EVELESS EDEN by ALLEN EPPES

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

EVE TURNED so that she could look up into Joel's face, after admitting she didn't know whether or not she still loved "the other man."

"But this much I do know, Bill brought back a world of memories. Looking so much like Carey, making me feel that Carey was close to me."

"I see," said Joel. "I'm beginning to think that you still are in love with this Carey Watts—or at least with his memory, anyway."

"Maybe you're right," said Eve. "Maybe it is his memory that I'm in love with—that memory that Bill brought back so vividly when he—"

"When he kissed you?" Joel said when Eve did not go on.

"Yes. How did you guess?"

"Oh, I don't know exactly. Only Bill does have a way with him. Joel looked at his watch. "Shall we be getting along now?"

"Yes, I think so," said Eve. "But, listen, Joel. Don't be too hard on Bill and me—for the kissing, I mean. You see, I wanted him to kiss me."

"You did?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"I wanted to see if being kissed by Bill would be like being kissed by Carey."

"And was it?"

Eve nodded. "Yes, Joel, it was. And that's why I don't want you to fall in love with me."

Joel gave her a quick look, a question in his eyes. But he didn't put it into words. There was no use. It was probably as it had always been in the past—Bill was winning Eve as he had always been able to win the girls.

They went on into the big room as their way out to where Joel's car was parked. It was when they were half way across the room that Joel stopped suddenly, and said, "Good Lord!" under his breath.

Eve heard him and said: "What's the matter?"

"That girl over there!" said Joel. "The one just getting into the elevator!"

"What about her?"

"She looks exactly like Rita Linwood."

"Who's she?"

"The girl who killed Bill."

"Oh!" Eve exclaimed. And then, smiling: "Probably up here on her honeymoon. . . . Asheville's quite a rendezvous for newly married couples, so I've been told."

"But Rita's not married."

"She's not! Why, I thought—"

"I had a letter from my aunt Saturday," Joel explained. "She told us Rita didn't marry the other man after all."

"Good heavens, you mean she's changed her mind again?"

"Yes," said Joel. "And if that girl I saw isn't Rita, then she's got a perfect double."

"But what would she be doing up here?"

"Vacationing, perhaps," said Joel. "After all, Asheville is a vacation spot, you know. Or, he added, watching Eve, "perhaps she's come up to recapture Bill."

"And that," said Eve, managing a light laugh, "would be what is known as thickening the plot!" She took Joel's arm. "Come on, Joel, let's be on our way."

They found the car and got in it. And presently, in deep silence, they were driving back to Hickory Gap.

Although it was late when Joel reached the cabin, Bill was still at work. A stack of typed manuscript sheets lay on one side of the typewriter, and the rifle on the other. Joel took one look and asked: "Why the gun?"

Bill motioned for him to wait a minute and finished something he was writing. He took the page out, laid it with the others, and leaned back in his chair, an expression of satisfaction upon his good-looking face.

"There!" he said. "My two opening chapters completed! I'm going to send them to my publisher tomorrow. That is, if you'll be so kind as to let me have the car."

Joel repeated his question: "Why the gun?"

"Oh, that!" said Bill. "Yes, that!" said Joel.

Bill grinned. "We've been warned," he said. "We ain't been hereabouts. He picked up the piece of cheap brown paper upon which was penciled the warning message and handed it to Joel. "Someone threw it in the window late this afternoon while you were off galavanting in Asheville." He pointed to the typewriter. "There's the dent, where it hit."

Joel read the illiterate scrawl and frowned.

"Sure you didn't write this yourself?" he asked. "Just to make for realism in your work?"

"Of course not! I tell you someone threw it in the window. . . . Are you sure it isn't your doings—just to scare me off?"

"Nonsense! Why should I want to scare you off?"

"We're rivals, you know—For Eve."

"Of course I know nothing about the rock and the message," Joel said. "I don't think it's a joke, either." He eyed the rifle. "Nor do you, seeing that you're armed."

Bill told of seeing the sinister-looking figure slinking off through the underbrush. "And," he added, "I thought it was just as well to have the rifle handy—just in case."

"I see," said Joel. "Are YOU sure you haven't aroused suspicion?" Bill asked. "I mean, exploring over the hills as you do. Sure you haven't stumbled upon a moonshining still or something?"

"As a matter of fact, I did stumble onto a still," Joel said.

"Ye gods, man!" Bill exclaimed. "Did anyone see you?"

"Yes, two men—rather unprepossessing looking individuals, too."

"Did they say anything? Threaten you, or anything like that?"

"No. They just looked at me, and walked off. One of them carried a sawed-off shotgun, and the other a coil of rope." Joel thought a moment. "But since the still I discovered was an abandoned one—and didn't look as though it had been used in a long while—I don't think my finding it could have worried the men very much."

"Just the same," said Bill. "I wish you'd stop being so darned nosy."

"You shouldn't mind," said Joel. "I thought you wanted to write an exciting story of the mountains. Having ourselves suspected, and being warned this way, ought to get you started on the yarn."

"It did get me started," Bill retorted. "I've turned out some pretty good stuff. But just the same, I'm not crazy about living the story as I write it—especially if it means having threats tossed through the window, and men with guns and ropes creeping about. Incidentally, a coil of rope is too suggestive of hanging to be pleasant."

Joel started to prepare for bed, and stopped.

"Say, I forgot to tell you I think I saw Rita Linwood tonight," he said.

"You—what?" Bill cried, staring at him.

"I was going to tell you about it as soon as I got here, but seeing that rifle, and having you tell me about the warning, made me forget it. Yes, if it wasn't Rita it was her double."

WHERE 12 FIREMEN PERISHED

Here are the ruins of a Brockton, Mass., theater, after the snow laden roof collapsed during a fire, bringing death to twelve firemen. Seventeen other firemen were treated for injuries and damage was estimated at more than $50,000.

Retired Colonel Says We Will Keep "Dirty Hun" Off Our Shores

CLEVELAND, March 13 (AP)—A retired U. S. army colonel told a speed-argument meeting here that passage of the Lease-Lend bill means "we're going to close our ranks and do this job and keep the dirty Hun off our clean shores."

The declaration came from Col. James L. Walsh of New York city, chairman of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers' Committee on National Defense.

"I'm not enough of a lawyer to know whether we are at war or at peace, whether we are belligerent or benevolent," Col. Walsh said. "But I do know the cheapest thing to do is to get into it and wind it up and do the job."

He substituted for Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the U. S. army, in addressing a dinner meeting of the society's army and navy meeting on expedition of defense production.

Another retired colonel—Frank A. Scott of Cleveland, the first world war chairman of the War Industries Board—told the society "the material being supplied by the men in this room may spell victory if we get into this war, and in any event will represent the saving of lives."

Germans Wear 'Headlights' to Fair

LEIPZIG, Germany (AP)—Visitors to the Leipzig spring fair this year wave luminous badges for admission — to avoid bumping into each other under the blackout conditions.

Besides using them in the jammed streets of the fair city, prospective visitors were assured that the badge could be used after they returned home, that it would retain its luminosity for at least six months.

Californians Claim Marathon Pin Mark

Los Angeles, March 11 (AP)—After bowling continuously for 53 hours and 29 minutes, Frank Stiller, 25, and Bus Waters, 27, claimed they had exceeded the world marathon bowling record by 2 hours and 41 minutes. They quit the grind early yesterday.

The previous record of 50 hours and 38 minutes was set by George Kinder in Milwaukee in 1930, said Fred Hanneman, on whose bowling alleys Stiller and Waters performed. Stiller, a tire builder, and Waters, unemployed, bowled 372 games each, as compared to Kinder's 362. Stiller's average was 161 and Waters' 165. Kinder averaged 149.

Reading to Child Aids Parents Too, Myers Declares

Ease and Forcefulness of Speech Improved, Psychologist Says

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.
Often in this column I have urged parents to read to the baby and young child. Usually I had in mind the best education of the child. Yet the mother who reads to the little child is educating herself also, she is improving her ease and forcefulness of speech; rendering reading to the child doubly effective for his language development.

"I read your daily column in the paper and find it a great help in rearing my little girl, who will soon be four years old, a reader writes. 'I want my daughter to know the charge of beautiful English well spoken and I know that she must get this from the home. However, neither my husband nor I are well educated. After completing the eighth grade, my husband had to work on the home farm, while I had only three years of high school. 'I read good books and find that these help me a lot, but I believe their must be a correspondence

LOADING TROUBLE FOR BRITAIN

A huge torpedo is loaded aboard a small German warship at a port in occupied France. The long-threatened Nazi invasion of Britain is expected to be preceded by a flotilla of these craft, which in the meantime are harassing British shipping, according to the official Nazi propaganda bureau caption issued with this picture.

course that would help us considerably. I would like to receive your selected list of books and pamphlets on understanding and guiding the young child; also the lists of books to read to the young child. A self addressed stamped envelope is enclosed.

The Answer

I am glad to enclose the lists of books you requested. You and your husband are better educated than you think. I certainly do admire your zeal for self-improvement.

It might be well for you to take a correspondence course in some special field of information. But for the purpose you state, I should not recommend any course. You say you have been reading good books. Go on doing so. Read aloud to each other, you and your husband, from some of the masterpieces which you find on high school reading lists. There is nothing better than the Bible to read aloud to improve your forcefulness and beauty of speech. Also include some of the works of the great poets. If you will read daily to that little daughter, from the enclosed lists, and keeping on reading to her from harder books after she enters school, you will have done about the best thing I can think of to cultivate good speech. Mothers who read to their tots, especially from the folk tales of the ages, do more for their own education than they realize.

Please remember that beautiful and well-spoken English does not necessarily mean long words. Rather the most beautiful English abounds in short words, such as are found in the Bible, Robinson Crusoe, Pilgrim's Progress, Treasure Island and speeches of Abraham Lincoln, who by the way, learned his forceful English by reading aloud.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Suppose the clerk at the corner drug store called you up and said your child stole something from his store.

A. I would calmly tell my child what the clerk told me. If the child insisted he had not taken the object, I would accept his word but answer: "Since the man at the drug store says you did I must go and pay him for the thing he thinks you took. You will go with me to see me pay him. From now on until we change the rule, you must never go into that store unless you are with some responsible adult. I shall tell the druggist so. If you go there without this guidance you will be punished." And I would tell him exactly what the punishment would be and be sure that he could count on my word.

Individual Reports Made by Soldiers

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md., March 13 (AP)—Like a stern father, Brig. Gen. Amos W. W. Woodcock wants to know exactly how well his men are progressing in training activities.

Reminiscent of school days, the general has instituted a report-card system. Every Saturday he scans the cards turned in to him, rating each week the progress of the individual soldier as well as the various units of the organization—from a squad of six men to a regiment of 1,200.

Woodcock expressed satisfaction with the first reports. "They give us," he said, "a picture that we couldn't possibly get by walking around at random and looking over training activities."

For the officers who turn them in, he believes the system promotes "intelligent observation."

Individual soldiers are graded on four topics: Military courtesy, bearing and wearing of uniforms; close-order drill and punctuality at all formations; knowledge, care and use of weapons; tactical knowledge and performance of all field duties.

The British empire had an estimated 5,000,000 men under arms in mid-February.

Men Come First In Germany Now, Lochner Learns

Correspondent Finds It Impossible To Get Berth
for His Wife

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
BERLIN, March 13 (AP) — It's a man's world more than ever in Germany now.

This was made plain on our return to Germany from a four-week vacation in the Swiss Alps.

At Basel my wife was unable to obtain a berth because all German sleepers now are reserved for men.

"During these war times men traveling through the night must arrive at their destination fully rested," was the explanation offered us.

We produced two paid sleeper tickets.

"Sorry," said the agent, "but you bought tickets on February 7. New regulations have superseded them."

So we took a tedious day train leaving Basel at 5:50 a. m. and arriving in Berlin at 10 p. m.

Germans Seem Nervous

On the train, we noticed the look of surprise on fellow passengers when they saw our tanned faces. Other travelers were for the most part pale and it seemed to us that they, as belligerents, were far more nervous than the neutral Swiss.

One stock question asked by virtually everybody who learned we came from Switzerland was:

"How's the food over there?"

One who asked this question immediately added:

"I really need not ask, for I see how well fed and healthy you look."

We reentered Germany on one of those monthly one-dish Sunday's — when all Germany eats only a one-course dinner and turns the

SEIZED IN BRITISH ARCTIC RAID

British raiders march 225 blindfolded German and pro-Nazi Norwegian prisoners aboard a prison ship after a daring assault on the Nazi-held Lofoten Islands off Norway. The blindfolds blot out military information that might be of value to the enemy. The British also carried away more than 300 Norwegians desirous of enlisting against the Nazis.

money thus saved over to the lumber rolling in the direction of Reich's winter relief fund.

No Free Helpings

We have one palatable course of thick pea soup with about two ounces of beef in it. Some travelers, especially soldiers asked for a second helping. They were told they could have only one dish for the fixed price of one mark (about forty cents); if they wished another they must pay for it. Many did.

We saw many trains of coal and we passed, and in the coaches of our abnormally long train. Not that Switzerland had made us forget uniforms. On the contrary, in the winter resort high above the Rhone valley where we hoped to forget about the war Swiss soldiers doggedly were training on skis so heavy we often wondered how they could skim over the surface of snow three feet deep.

Plan Spring Offensive

But in Switzerland the training seemed hypothetical, whereas in Germany the spirit of the spring offensive forecast by Adolf Hitler was in the air.

Prolonged men appeared to be hastening back to their regiments. Long freight trains carried every conceivable kind of equipment.

One of the most interesting sights along the route was a big flotilla of barrage balloons, like those British ones, hovering over one huge industrial plant.

In train compartments, the conversation was restrained for everywhere signs warned: "Be careful when talking—the enemy is listening."

Yet in our compartment, where there usually were one or two German officers, nobody took offense at our speaking English or reading American magazines.

Twin Great Grandsons Of Siamese Twins Born In N. Carolina

MT AIRY, N. C., March 12 (AP) — Twin great grandsons of the original Siamese twins of world-wide fame were born in a farm house near White Plains, a village near here, Tuesday.

Dr. R. J. Lovill, the attending physician, said they were normal and weighed about six pounds each.

The father, Robert Bunker, is a grandson of one of the original twins, Chang and Eng, who were buried in a churchyard at White Plains. The mother, whose condition the physician pronounced good, is a native of this section.

Chang and Eng traveled over the world in the nineteenth century and appeared before the crowned heads of Europe, all of whom marveled

Hitler Is Faster At Revising Treaties

HELENA, Mont., (AP) — For the first time since the Flathead and Kootenai Indian tribes negotiated a treaty with the white men almost 100 years ago they have requested that terms of the document be reviewed.

Chief Elias Grange of the confederated tribes appeared before the state legislature and said the white man had violated terms of the treaty by forcing Indians to observe hunting and fishing regulations. The treaty said the chief provides a far flung hunting ground for the Indians in which they are not bound by the white man's hunting laws.

He asked that this territory be reopened to the Indians because he said many of his tribesmen now are suffering from hunger and want.

In 1940, 565,000 workers were in-cluded in 2450 strikes in the United States, with an estimated loss of occasionally had disagreements and 6,500,000 mail-days.

New Agreement With Canada Is Planned by FDR
President Expected To Revive St. Lawrence Power Plans

By J. C. STARK
WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—A new agreement with Canada on the long-delayed St. Lawrence sea-way and power project is reported in the final stage of negotiations. The talks with Canada were said to have reached the point where officials here expected to go to Ottawa soon to complete the formalities. Once the agreement is signed, President Roosevelt is expected to submit it promptly to Congress as an emergency defense measure on which, he has said, "So much of our national safety and welfare depends."

May Present Resolution
With strong opposition groups appearing to fight it, there was increasing belief in informed quarters that the president would seek approval of both Houses of Congress by concurrent resolution rather than risk possible failure again to muster the necessary two-thirds vote in the Senate for ratification of a treaty. Although some authorities hold that congressional approval is unnecessary, President Roosevelt has stated definitely that he intended to submit the agreement to Congress. President Roosevelt submitted the project in the form of a treaty in 1934 and the Senate voted 46 for and 42 against it, far short of the necessary two-thirds for ratification. Details of the new agreement have not been disclosed but it was understood it would retain some of the principal features of the earlier one, including a $130,000,000 credit to Canada for work already carried out on a related project.

Called "Vital Necessity"
President Roosevelt several months ago allotted $1,000,000 from a special defense fund for preliminary work on the project which he described as once "an opportunity" but "now a vital necessity." He said the power project, in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence river, was badly needed to "produce aluminum and more aluminum for the airplane program which will assure command of the air."

Burglar Opens Window Owner Couldn't Budge

WESTMINSTER, Md., March 13 (AP)—For two years, Norman B. Boyle, cashier of the Westminster savings bank, had been irritated by inability to open a certain window in his home. He was awakened at night by a noise in his children's play-room, investigated, and clashed with a big negro he found there. The negro slashed Boyle twice with a knife, but not seriously. Rushed over, gave that stuck window a shove, dived out and fled.

The cornerstone of the White House was laid in 1792, just eleven years after the surrender of Cornwallis.

Two Families Homeless as Flames Sweep Ellerslie Residence

Fire Companies Prevent Blaze From Spreading

Entire Block Threatened by Raging Fire; Origin Undetermined

ELLERSLIE, March 13 — Two families were left temporarily homeless when flames swept a large double house here today. The frame structure was damaged beyond repair, and the blaze threatened for a time to destroy an entire block of residences before firemen of five companies brought it under control. Much of the furnishings was also destroyed.

Driven out into the street by the fire were Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDermott and children, Bobby, 9, and Yvonne, 6; and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Devore, with their one-year-old daughter, Yvonne, and their son, Richard, 5. Both men are Celanese workers.

Eating Lunch

Mrs. McDermott said she and her husband were eating lunch about 2 o'clock when a man whose name she did not know rushed in to tell them the roof was ablaze. She hastily went to get their two small children, asleep upstairs, while her husband warned the DeVores. Mr. Devore, on the night shift at the Celanese, was also asleep.

The two families were aided in removing some of their belongings by neighbors and a WPA sanitation crew.

Clude E. Stahlman, foreman of the WPA gang, said he and his men were driving through town when they saw the blaze. No one seemed to be around, he stated, and he sent his men down to help while he went to call firemen.

He summoned five volunteer companies from nearby town, which arrived in this order: Corriganville, LaVale, Hyndman, Mt. Savage and Frostburg.

House Next Door Blazes

Meanwhile, his workers aided the firemen and their neighbors to carry out some of the furniture, but the rapidly-burning roof, threatening to cave in momentarily, prevented more than half of the contents from being salvaged.

The house next-door, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Beals, blazed briefly, but quick work of the firemen prevented it from making headway. But for the prompt and efficient work of the volunteers, the entire row of six houses might have been razed.

Tonight, the McDermott-Devore residence was little more than a charred frame, the roof gone and the walls barely standing.

Both families were taken in by relatives or friends.

The origin of the blaze remained undetermined, although a defective fuse was blamed in some quarters.

The house was owned by Bruce E. Smith, of Cumberland. He could not be reached tonight to determine the amount of the loss.

Neither family could estimate their loss, but indicated it would run into several hundred dollars.

Garrett County Grand Jury Finds 25 Indictments

Manslaughter Charge Returned against 26-Year-Old Crellin Miner

OAKLAND, March 13—Its deliberations extending over three days, the Garrett county grand jury adjourned yesterday evening after examining fifty-five witnesses and returning twenty-five indictments.

Among the indictments was one charging Edison Lewis, 26-year-old Crellin miner, with manslaughter, according to State's Attorney Neil C. Fraley.

Lewis is accused of driving an automobile which struck and fatally injured Oliver Franklin Conner, of Edwin, W. Va., near Guey church January 1. At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Charles F. White, officers testified that Lewis failed to stop his vehicle after the accident occurred but had later returned to Oakland and surrendered to authorities.

Other indictments were for the usual charges, Mr. Fraley said, including larceny and breaking and entering. The criminal docket will be called Monday, March 24.

The grand jury complimented the law enforcement officers for their work and reported all records in the court house well kept. W. L. Thomas, Grantsville, was foreman, while Cecil Smith and Audley Riley acted as clerks.

B&O Permitted To Abandon 20-Mile Rail Line Serving Friendsville Area

Interstate Commerce Commission Over-Rules Coal Company Protest

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized the Confluence and Oakland Railroad company, which is leased by the Baltimore and Ohio to abandon its line extending 19.79 miles from Confluence and Oakland Junction, Pa. to Kendall, Md., to make way for a flood control project.

The War department has selected a site on the line for a dam across the Youghiogheny river. This unit is one of six to be constructed. Work is scheduled to begin in April and continue for about three years. When at full elevation, the reservoir will inundate about twelve miles of the line from the dam site to a point upstream near Friendsville.

In authorizing the abandonment, the commission said service now being performed could be continued only by relocation of the line.

The cost of relocating the line has been estimated as high as $2,519,000.

The Public Service Commission of Maryland and the McCulloch Coal Corporation opposed the abandonment. The coal company said it would be deprived of direct rail connections.

Bituminous Coal Reserves Kept At Minimum by Increasing Demands

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 13 (AP)—Increasing demands for bituminous coal have kept West Virginia mine reserves at a minimum while estimates of industrial supplies vary from two to six weeks, a survey of the state disclosed today.

Most operators expressed a belief the same situation will exist on April 1, when the Appalachian field contract held by the United Mine Workers expires. Operators' representatives rejected union demands today, among them a request for a $1 a day pay increase.

Ray Berry, manager of the Constance Coal Company, one of the largest in the Wheeling area, said commercial operators were unable to build up any surplus stocks because of the great demand. Some of them turn over their stocks every forty-eight hours, he added.

T. N. Bradford, an executive of the Paisley interests which operate extensively in northern West Virginia, expressed a like opinion.

Both estimated the larger industries, such as Wheeling Steel, Wiering Steel and others, had thirty-day stocks on hand, while smaller concerns would not average more than fifteen days. They said railroads in the district also have comparatively small stocks.

B. B. Houseman, assistant secretary of the Pocahontas Operators' Association for Southern West Virginia, said there is little coal being stored in the Pocahontas fields because "our production is going at such a high rate that stocks are in the hands of users rather than in the fields."

Houseman estimated there are about 50,000 tons above ground at present and said production had reached a high of 700,000 tons a week a level not previously believed possible.

Local county operators said there was no coal on hand and that they do not expect to stock any. They are shipping it as fast as it is mined.

At Huntington, President Frank Enlow of the Basic and other coal companies, said the "amount of coal above ground in the bituminous fields is insignificant by comparison with the weekly consumption. However, the coal above ground at industrial plants is estimated enough for six weeks."

A prominent operator whose mines are located in the New River and Winding Gulf fields asserted there is less coal on hand at the mines now than at any time in the history of the fields, with most operators finding themselves with more orders than they can fill.

Scouts Publish Paper

The first issue of "The Scout Echo," a newspaper dedicated to the activities of Boy Scouts of the Frostburg district of Potomac Council, is out and will be distributed to all local troops this week.

The mimeographed publication, which will be issued monthly, will include district news and items from individual troops. Editorials and feature stories are also to be included.

Each troop has appointed editors who are to contribute articles concerning activities of their respective troops. Typing and mimeographing of the paper is to be done by students of the commercial department of Beall high school.

The purpose of the publication, as stated in the editorial, "Reveille" is to let Scouts know what is being done by the various troops and to encourage better scouting and an extension of the movement in the Frostburg district.

The editorial page of the first issue tells the story of the "Unknown Scout," an English boy whose good turn for an American business man resulted in bringing the scout movement to the United States.

Hampshire Jurors Convict Man, 66, Of Raping Girl, 13

Frank Huffman Faces Five to Twenty Years in State Penitentiary

ROMNEY, W. Va., March 13—A Hampshire county jury today convicted a 66-year-old man of raping a 13-year-old girl of the Capon Bridge section.

The jury returned the guilty verdict against Frank Huffman in Circuit court this morning after deliberating several hours yesterday afternoon and last night.

Because the jury recommended mercy it was indicated that the sentence will be from five to twenty years in the state penitentiary. The maximum penalty under West Virginia law is death, the minimum, five years imprisonment.

Huffman pleaded not guilty to the charge when the trial opened Tuesday morning before Judge Harlan M. Calhoun.

The jury was composed of N. B. Buckbee, T. D. Largent, Hollie Wolford, Herman Timbrook, Wade McKee, Robert D. Haines, Arch Shingleton, C. H. Adams, Lohr Good, Edgar Wolford, Earl Saville and Roy Haines.

The only remaining case set for the March term of court is that of Harley McDonald, charged with non-support. The hearing is set for Thursday of next week.

Garrett Farmers To Hold Meetings To Learn about New AAA Program

OAKLAND, March 13—A series of meetings throughout the county to acquaint farmers with the 1941 agricultural conservation program was announced today by County Agent John H. Carter. Meetings will be held in various communities from March 17 to April 7, all at 7:30 p. m. Farmers are privileged to attend the meeting most convenient to them.

The schedule follows: Grantsville high school auditorium, March 17; Accident high school auditorium, March 18; Friendsville high school auditorium, March 19; Swanton school, March 20; Sunnyside Grange hall, March 21; Sang Run school, March 24; Ryan's Glade Grange hall, March 26; Avilton school, March 27; Uniontown school, March 28; Bittinger school, March 31; Asher Glade school, April 1; Chestnut Grove school, April 2; Red Oak school, April 3; and Selbyport school, April 7.

Use of the individual farm plan sheet in planning farm operations will enable farmers to obtain the greatest benefit from their participation in the program. Mr. Carter said, regarding payments for soil building practices and classification of crops.

In working out his farm plan sheet, each farmer will be assisted by a member of the local AAA committee, a representative of the county committee or Mr. Carter. In this way the farmer will be able to get the maximum assistance available in order to carry out the soil-building practices most needed on the farm. The committees are informed on the new provisions of the 1941 program, he said, which include payments for the use of lime phosphate, seeding of legumes and grasses and green manure crops.

Farm plans can also be filled in at the county agent's office during regular office hours. It is necessary that the farm plan be made out if the individual wishes to participate in the 1941 program, Mr. Carter said.

In company with Chief of Police Harry Tharp, he visited several homes in Hyndman, where unlicensed dogs were found. ## Sixteen Enactments of 1941 Assembly Become Law with Neely Signature

Miner Certification Act, Teacher Salary Increases Approved

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 13 (AP)—The CIO-supported miner certification act, another revising the delinquent lands statutes and a third increasing teacher salaries became law today after Governor Neely affixed his signature.

The governor also signed thirteen other enactments of the 1941 legislature.

Under the certification measure, all coal miners will be required to pass examinations and to have papers attesting their experience in order to work in the pits after April 1, 1942. Examining boards will be set up to give the tests.

The delinquent lands revision eliminates the present "quiet title" proceedings in property sold for non-payment of taxes and puts into effect the same procedure as was used when West Virginia became a state. Delinquent taxes prior to 1929 are "forgiven."

The basic teacher salary increases amount to $5 to $105 a month for standard certificates, $10 to $110 for second class, $10 to $120 for bachelors and $15 to $135 for masters. The total cost is estimated at approximately $1,000,000 annually.

Other bills signed by the governor included:

Giving assistant county superintendents of schools the same tenure as superintendents and raising the annual expense limit from $300 to $350.

Exempting volunteer firemen's organization benefits from the state theater tax.

Revising the public assistance law to raise the maximum old age and blind pensions from $30 to $40 a month and providing for greater participation in federal grants.

Providing for declaratory judgments by juries when persons present a case for evaluation on its merits before entering suit or starting trial.

Preventing discrimination because of race, creed or color in the issuance of policies by general indemnity and automobile mutual insurance companies.

Legalizing insurance and other contracts with minors.

Authorizing changes in circuit court times for Raleigh and Boone counties; reopening of the workmen's compensation case of Mose Adkins of Logan county; payment of $750 to Harry Love for injuries and damage to his truck in the collapse of a bridge at Gilmer Station, Gilmer county; reopening the workmen's compensation case of Ivan Carson of Harrison county.

Gilding the Lily Is Out of Date; Now They Paint the Apple Red

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 13 (AP)—At long last, says C. R. Orton, in effect, "we think we've found a way to paint the apple red."

West Virginia apple growers who know what poor color can do to the sales value of their crops, perked up their ears at an obscene item in the biennial report of the director of the West Virginia agricultural experiment station.

"At last," said Orton, "our chemists can tell the story of improving the color of growing apples."

"It has taken years of study and experiment, but the method x x is fairly simple."

Then, without burdening his readers by involved scientific explanation, Orton told simply of the experiment which has been conducted at Morgantown and at Kearneyville, Jefferson county, in recent years.

"First, the nature of the coloring matter in the apple had to be determined. This was a painstaking piece of work because it took so much apple skin to extract a little of the color x x The residue was analyzed for chemical content."

Here, he explained, it was necessary to look for a spray material that would promote the formation of this chemical.

"Fifty trees were sprayed," he went on, "with dilute solutions of sodium thiocyanate. On each tree a single limb used as a control limb and covered with heavy canvas during the spraying operations. The trees were bearing and were sprayed from one to four times in July and August."

Local Delegates Praised for Vote Against Budget

State Budget Emergency Committee Issues Statement of Thanks

The State Budget Emergency Committee has issued a statement praising the Allegany county delegation and other delegates who voted against the state budget, commenting on the fact that eleven Democrats and nine Republicans so voting clearly proved to the skeptical that the economy movement is strictly non-partisan and non-political.

Representing People

Allegany county delegates who voted against the budget were, Mrs. L. W. Boucher, J. W. Dick, Miss Elizabeth Doub, Jonathan Jeeman, and Lester B. Reed. Charles M. See, the other member of the county delegation was absent when the vote was taken, being confined to his home here by injuries suffered in an automobile accident several days ago.

"These delegates have earned the gratitude of the people they represent," the committee stated. "In this crisis they have displayed statesmanship of a high order. It was not easy to vote against a powerful administration. The delegates had the courage to place the welfare of the whole state above political preference."

"Aroused taxpayers all over the state are now calling their individual senators to reject the budget and thus bring about a reduction of the cost of state government so that people may be able to assume Maryland's estimated $750,000,000 share of national defense costs and at the same time be able to maintain their homes, farms and standard of living."

Others Who Voted

Other Republican delegates who voted against the budget were N. Brennenman, Garrett; C. R. Barnes, Carroll; W. H. Lloyd, Rochester; and J. R. Ramsburg, Frederick.

Democrats who voted against the measure were, J. H. T. Briscoe, St. Mary's; C. G. Lord, Baltimore; J. J. Gardner, Frederick; C. S. Houck, Jr., Frederick; J. T. Lee, Frederick; B. B. Rosenstock, Frederick; J. V. Cain, J. Robinson, L. A. Rubenstein, C. P. Argabright and W. Heinekamp, all of Baltimore city.

clubs affiliated with the American Automobile Association are becoming increasingly active in national defense work and are carrying out broad-gauged programs to aid in the national defense effort. P. H. Rockwell, of the Western Maryland Auto Club reported yesterday.

"A number of clubs," Rockwell said, "have been assisting in highway military movements by providing maps, road and detour information and the like."

"In addition, many clubs have set up special defense traffic councils for the purpose of formulating co-operative programs designed to reduce congestion and to bring about greater safety in areas where large-scale defense production has complicated the traffic problem."

"Special surveys are now being made by the A.A.A. to determine the time and place of principal areas of congestion at points of or near military concentrations throughout the country in order to advise the traveling public to avoid the congested areas. At the same time, efforts are being made to increase additional use of secondary roads in congested areas to relieve the burden on the main traffic lanes."

"Housing shortages in areas near rapidly expanding cantonments provide a problem for the planning of accommodations for use by tourists. As rapidly as information concerning housing conditions in the various areas becomes available, it will be distributed to the motor clubs for use by the traveling public."

Alvin Layman Is Held on Disorderly Conduct Charge

Sought by police since Sunday, Alvin Layman, 400 Maryland avenue, was arrested yesterday morning on a disorderly conduct charge which grew out of an alleged fracas at a rooming house.

Mrs. Edna Miller, 44, of 400 Maryland avenue, was treated late last Saturday night at Allegany hospital for head lacerations which she told attendants she suffered when knocked against a lamp by a roomer. She later forfeited $10 bond in police court on a disorderly charge.

Layman was released under $10 bond pending a hearing today in police court. Officers J. E. Sherry and C. C. Roby made the arrest.

Junior Extension 4-H Members Will Attend Court

Jurists Say It Will Be More Beneficial than Hearing Addresses

At the suggestion of Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan and Associate Judge William A. Huster, members of the Junior Extension 4-H Club will attend a regular court session of circuit court rather than have the jurists address the organization on "Courts."

Both Judge Sloan and Judge Huster said the members would receive more education value by attending a regular court session than to hear talks on the circuit court system.

The jurists said the court sessions will start April 14. Civil cases will get underway on that date and the criminal court docket will be taken up April 21. All court sessions start at 9:15 a. m. except April 14 which will be at 10 a. m.

Miss Thelma E. Ryan, president of the club, has suggested that the April 2 meeting be postponed until circuit court opens and that members accept the invitation of the chamber of commerce to attend the "Voter" Lecture-Demonstration at Frost Hill high school auditorium, Wednesday, April 2, at 8:15 p. m.

Special seats will be reserved until 8:15 o'clock for the Junior Extension members. The regular business meeting of the club will follow this event.

Other events on the 4-H Club calendar are: March 26—Boys' 4-H Federation skating party, Crystal Park, 8 p. m.; March 28—Allegany Girls' 4-H Trail Rally banquet, Centre street church, 6:30 p. m.

County Students Are Honored at Gettysburg
Stanley Whitson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Whitson, 323 City View Terrace, and Edna E. Fisher, daughter of Major and Mrs. John W. Fisher, of Westport, have been placed on the scholastic honor list at Gettysburg college.

In announcing honor list students, Dean Wilbur E. Tilberg, said the student must secure A or above in his subjects and B or above in the other half to become an honor student.

Whitson, a senior, was admitted to the national honorary scholastic fraternity of Phi Beta Kappa, highest scholastic attainment possible.

Miss Fisher, a member of the freshman class, attained the honor of being placed on the special honor list.

George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Benjamin Franklin all were checker enthusiasts.

Students Present Fine Program at Allegany High

Large Crowd Hears Concert Under Direction of Music Teachers

Under the direction of Miss Dorothy Willson and Jack Platt, the students of the music department of Allegany high school presented a real concert last evening in the school auditorium which was their thirteenth presentation.

Jack Platt's Blue and White Band opened the program with a regular band number, "Invercargill," which has also been chosen by the combined bands of the county for their concert next month. Both the orchestra's work and the four "Majorities" twirling their batons were received enthusiastically by a large audience. Contrasting this was the selection of the ever popular, "Tales of Vienna Woods." The third selection, "Right of Assembly" is particularly appropriate this season, and the transfer from one section of the band to another was perfectly executed.

The joyous coming of spring was heralded by the Musettes, "The Wind in the South," their Creole love song, "AY, AY, AY," with its especially attractive Spanish rhythm direction of Miss Willson. Miss Rita Millenson played an effective accompaniment.

Glee Club Pleases
The Glee Club really went to town on "Sing Me a Chanty with a 'Yo Heave-Ho' and 'Gospel Ship' the latter being the Fred Waring Glee Club arrangement, the copies being sent by Waring to Jack Platt as it is not available for public use. Both numbers were well received.

The Instrumental Ensemble, Marshall Sowers, Leonard Happe, Miss Sylvia Levinson and Robert Youngblood accompanied by Miss Ella Louise Richards presented chamber music, "Aragone," from "Carmen" against the soft gray and yellow back-drop curtain with most effective lighting by the Allegany Dramatic club. Miss Richards also accompanied the trumpet trio, Ralph Happe, Clarence Doolittle and John Lechleiter in their excellent presentation, "The Three Punks."

The "Seraphic Song," taken from Rubinstein, accompanied on the organ by Miss Rita Millenson, on the piano by Miss Ella Louise Richards and on the violin by Charles Oglebay, was an outstanding number. This was in direct contrast to their selection, "I Dream of Jeannie" which was sung unaccompanied.

Orchestra Performs Well
Following the intermission the orchestra under the able direction of Miss Willson presented Bach's Coral, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," with instrumental solid chord forming bases played by the brasses and low instruments with the lighter and higher instruments giving a decorative obligato. Bocherini's celebrated Minuet for strings displayed the string section. The overture from "My Maryland," which Allegany high produced a few years ago was also presented.

The most enthusiastically received selection of the evening was "Jubilee Medley," Jack Platt's own arrangement of a humorous, happy negro spiritual, sung by the boys quartet. Another number sung by the quartet was "Tell Me Rose" by R. W. Grant, head of the Music department at Penn State college, and dedicated to his former pupil Mr. Platt.

The lighting effects were again outstanding when the Choral club sang "The Robin in the Rain," for the pastel rainbow shades of the girls dresses were here accentuated by the lights. "Bram's In Silent Night" was unaccompanied except by Marshall Sowers on the violin, and was beautiful with the hushed voices.

Soloists Presented
Miss Willson presented Robert Rice and Miss Rita Millenson, the winners in the contest Tuesday at assembly, who tied for first honors. Mr. Rice gave as his trombone solo, "Berceuse" from Jocelyn by Gadard, a combination prayer and lullaby, which was exceptionally well executed. Miss Millenson gave a fine rendition of "Minuet Waltz" by Chopin.

The Choral and Glee clubs closed the program with the "Long Day Closes" under the direction of Mr. Platt and Rain and the River" with Miss Willson directing, depicting the happy and lucky disposition of the Negro and their love of the river and the river so accurately that one could almost hear the rain falling. Miss Doris Brant and Miss Joyce Bestwick sang incidental parts in the choral numbers. Miss Betty Ann West also was accompanist.

Major Van DeBoe, Scout Executive, Visits Here
Major D. G. Van DeBoe, of Philadelphia, deputy regional executive of the Boy Scouts of America, spent Wednesday and Thursday here conferring with Ray C. Lator, scout executive of Potomac Council, and other scout officials of the Cumberland district. He left yesterday afternoon for Philadelphia.

WPA Training Class Has Meeting
Yesterday, an in-service training class was held at the Union street school WPA office, Cumberland, for all pre-school leaders in the county. The class was conducted by Dr. Virginia Kacy, Child Psychologist and WPA state technician. The subject of her talk was the social attitudes and reactions of children of pre-school age. She also discussed different situations which arise in directing small children and how to deal with these situations.

The class was attended by all WPA pre-school leaders of Allegany county as well as Mrs. Elizabeth M. Cooper, recreation supervisor for Allegany county.

Selective

is a board to do in a case like this. A young man is working the farm owned by his father and mother who depend on him to do the work which results in their making a living. Would he be drafted or not?"

Up To 'Neighbors'
Lieut. Col. Stanwood said a case of this nature presents a problem, stressed the fact that such cases are largely in the lap of the boards. "This young man," he said, referring to the hypothetical case presented, "would be in the hands of his 'neighbors,' a term the officer used several times in referring to draft board members.

"Why are married men taken in some states and not taken in other states?" inquired George McAlpine Young, who was told this was another matter up to each individual board which had to figure out the various factors involved.

Several persons asked questions regarding the treatment and disposal of "conscientious objectors," and were told such cases were given a careful investigation and asked such questions as "If a person came up to you and slapped you on the face as hard as he could, what would you do?"

Jobs Discussed
"What about this business of getting our jobs back after our year is up?" inquired another association member.

This is a problem that is being given careful attention, Stanwood replied, stating that more would be announced regarding this important phase of selective service at a later date.

"Prior to the time a man has served his year and is eligible for discharge, an effort will be made to insure he gets his job back or to get him another job," Stanwood said. Immediately following the dinner at 6 o'clock, Lieut. Col. Stanwood gave a thirty-minute address on "Selective Service" which was broadcast from Station WTBO. The address was general in nature and it was not until the speaker went off the air and the question and answer periods started that the meeting really got down to cases.

X-Ray Expert Speaks At Kiwanis Meeting

The use of x-rays in both diagnosis and treatment was graphically portrayed for Cumberland Kiwanians yesterday by Dr. R. Rhett Rathbone.

Speaking at the club's weekly luncheon-meeting at the Port Cumberland hotel, Dr. Rathbone used stereopticon slides to illustrate his talk, in which he emphasized the vast progress medicine has been enabled to make by the development of x-ray procedure.

The speaker, formerly associate professor of radiology at Georgetown university, Washington, said the x-ray, discovered in 1895, marked the greatest single contribution to medicine progress in our lifetime.

The value of x-rays both in discovering and treating disease is noteworthy, Dr. Rathbone told the Kiwanians.

Another use of the rays not generally known, he added, is in industry, where they are employed to find defects in a great variety of products.

Tribute was paid to W. Russell Brewer, a member of the club who died yesterday, and "Lead, Kindly Light" was sung in a brief memorial service.

Chico 'Shoots the Keys'
In Maryland Comedy
Chico Marx is happy to be the living example of the fellow who said, "They laughed when I sat down at the piano." He is the originator of the famous "shooting the keys" tricks, which he again reveals in the new Marx Brothers comedy, "Go West", now showing at the Maryland theater.
Of that peculiar style of his,
Chico says, "Harpo thinks it's all because I've got freak fingers.
Groucho claims it is the power of matter of brain, and I say it's just the result of practice."
Chico began playing when still in his breeches. Being the oldest of the Marx brothers, he was given piano lessons—at twenty-five cents a lesson—more than a quarter century ago. He then set out to earn a living playing the piano. He could pick up any tune instantly and his fingers seemed made just for piano playing.
"I played for silent movies for dances, in music halls, in sheet music departments, for parties, even in saloons," Chico grins.

Dorsey Band Featured
In Strand Picture Offering an array of both new and old popular songs, "Las Vegas Nights" opens today at the Strand theater.
Songs introduced under the Tom-of India," "I'll Never Smile Again," "Shadow Waltz," "On Miami Shores," and "The Trombone Man Is the Best Man in the Band," and these brand new hits, "Dolores," "Mary,

Mary, Quite Contrary," "Moments

For swing, "Las Vegas Nights" has Tommy Dorsey and his torrid

the latest Dorsey version of "Dol-

New Star Has Role
In Embassy Film
Virginia Carpenter was too pretty to be hidden away in a broadcasting station. At least, that was the opinion of producer Edward Flinn.
"Rollin' Home to Texas," at the Embassy theater introduces this attractive new western heroine.
Miss Carpenter first sang with Lud Gluskin's orchestra, and then on the Al Pearce radio show, which is broadcast from Hollywood.
In "Rollin' Home to Texas," Miss Carpenter finds that Tex Ritter and his pal, Slim Andrews are the only ones who can keep her brother from serving sentence for a bank robbery which he didn't commit. But in order to find the gang behind this frame up, Tex is obliged to visit the penitentiary where the robberies are being planned. He enlists the aid of the prisoners against the gang leader, and the plotters are rounded up in a gun battle.

The first displays many visitors

The first looks just like it sounds

At the garden's curiosities house also will be found the climbing dumb cane (if one bites the leaves the tongue swells so that speech is impossible), the babes-in-the-cradle,

LONDON (P)—The heavily blitzed
British cities, Birmingham, Coven-try and Bristol, have been selected as areas for testing post-war reconstruction plans. The new Coventry will be entirely planned around the hill on which stood the cathedral and other historical buildings demolished by Nazi bombs. Houses will be built in groups with a school, community center, clinic and a few stores forming an integral part of each group. Tall blocks of apartments will also be constructed in order to allow plenty of land for parks and playgrounds.
Coventry as rebuilt will be approached by a ring of radial roads each one leading to the hub of the city like the spokes of a wheel.
Nationwide reconstruction, expected to co-ordinate agricultural and industrial development and transport, will not be undertaken until after the war is ended.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

HIS PARTNER TELLS YOU
YOU CAN place one defender with the dangerous holding in certain suits if his partner has bid as to show extreme length in either suit or suits. In fact, you can sometimes see definitely that the poor chap will have to do all the guarding of a couple of suits, and is therefore subject to whatever kind of squeeze or end-play you build.

North, of course, took the lead of the diamond J with the Q, knocking East's double as based on the threatening cards of the two major suits, he followed by the A. He counted West for the club A, so led the dummy's club 3 and came right up with the K, which held. Seeking to build another club trick, he led the club 2 from dummy, East's Q winning.

With only major suit cards left, East led the heart 10 to the A, and North then laid down the diamond A on the eighth trick. It squeezed East, who at this stage had six cards, the heart 9-8-7-6 and the spade J-9. Unwilling to part with one of his hearts in view of the K-Q-J-3 in dummy, he tossed off a spade, in which North held the Q-5. That enabled North to drop the spade J with his Q and cash the spade 5, discarding clubs from the dummy. He then took in three hearts, giving up the last one to East and making his contract.

Against South's 3-No Trumps if the first three tricks are the club K, club 10 to the A, with East discarding the spade 6, the heart 2 to the 10 and Q and the spade 3 returned to the A, should West false-card with his spade Q and, if so, why?

Cotton Frock in Two Versions

Marian Martin

PATTERN 9667

Cotton frocks steal the fashion of the time of year. Here's one of the most attractive of the season's crop—a Marian Martin Pattern 9667. Make it up in both short-sleeved or long-sleeved versions, using those wonderful new flowery or solid American-made cotton prints. The waistline gives a delicate, feminine accent to the gentle bodice blousing. Parting seams slant in from the shoulders in an easy yoke-effect, with a slight scallop. The neckline is a delicate scallop. The other has clean-cut, straight, that may contrast, perhaps with a girlish matching. You'll want a lace and ribbon for the bodice style, lace and ribbon for the more feminine version.

Pattern 9667 may be ordered only misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42. The 16 requires 3 yards 39 inch fabric and 2 yards lace edging. Send fifteen cents in coins for the Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number. Success to your Spring Sewing with the Marian Martin Pattern book, just out! The only printed collection of the famous designs featured daily in this paper. McKechie Says Reds
Ought to Win Again

SARASOTA, Fla., March 13.—These are swell times for starving interviewers. Deacon William McKechie, manager of the World Champion Cincinnati Reds, will give you a straight answer to a question I guess it hurts him to do it, way down deep, but he does it. In reply to the question, "will you win the pennant?" Deacon McKechie says: "Yes, we certainly ought to."

A few years ago, the Deacon would have turned himself over to the police for making a statement like that. The Deacon is a kindly and cultured gentleman, full of sprightly small talk on the subjects of Ming China and Persian dog-breeding methods, but to answer "yes" or "no" to a baseball question is a penal offense in his book. At least, it used to be.

Well does your agent mind the time, a few springs ago, when word reached the Cincinnati camp that the Philadelphia Athletics were discussing with the services of Will Werber, their third baseman. The Reds were playing an exhibition game that day, and a reporter galloped down to the ball field to accost Deacon McKechie.

"Say, Bill," he panted, "I hear the Athletics are waiving Werber out of their league."

"No kidding," said the Deacon, registering mild surprise.

"Yes, they are," said the reporter. "Now, you could use a good third baseman, couldn't you?"

"Well," said Mr. McKechie, "in a manner of speaking, I guess I could. Perhaps. Maybe, I will certainly talk your suggestion over."

A Babbling by Comparison

The reporter returned to the press box. There, five minutes later, a Cincinnati secretary announced that the Reds had purchased William Werber to play third base. The deal had been consummated the day before. Manager McKechie said the secretary was confident that Werber would perhaps help the ball club.

That was the old McKechie. California's pride, the closest man that ever came out of County Argyle.

The new McKechie, though he still plays ten close to his waistcoat, is practically a babbling by comparison. That's what a couple of pennants and a world's championship will do for you.

"If anything," says the Deacon mournfully, "the club is better than it was last year, when we won by twelve games. The pitching is better. Granted that Derringer and Walters may not win as many games as they have in the last two years, we'll get better work from Gene Thompson and Whitey Moore. Moore is about ready to get going as a real big league pitcher."

"We bought Monte Pearson from the Yankees, and he may win and he may not. Anything he gives us will be velvet. Joe Beggs is a fine relief pitcher. Some of the younger pitchers, like Logan, Hutchings and Riddle, are looking pretty good."

Added Outfield Strength

"The rest of the team is about the same, except that we've added outfield strength by getting Jimmy Gleason from the Cubs. There was a weakness in the outfield most of last year. We didn't have the replacements. Now, starting out with Goodman, Riddle, Mike McCormick, Gleason, and Craft, we are well set."

"If Lombardi can't catch quite as much as he used to, young Dick West will take up the slack. He's a real good boy. I think Brooklyn is improved in our league, and the Cardinals and Pittsburgh should be stronger, but we have enough margin to win."

By and large, the Reds are a stand-pat club—which you might expect them to be, after winning easily. They are carrying the smallest squad in Florida. They won with pitching last year, and they will rely again on the same key pitchers—Walters, Derringer, Thompson, Moore, Turner, and Beggs. There are only thirteen pitchers on the roster, including Pearson, who was bought from the Yankees because Beggs, also a former Yankee, turned out well.

The Reds have discharged one regular, Billy Myers, the shortstop, traded to the Cubs for Gleason and Bobby Mattick. The change is negligible, except as the Deacon says, that Gleason means added outfield strength for Cincinnati.

Thus, Deacon McKechie is going in there with the same hand he played last year—strong in the pitching, adequate elsewhere. And a neat hand it is. The more I contemplate it, the scarier I am for Brooklyn, St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

THIS PITCHER NEVER IS BATTED OUT OF THE BOX

The Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE (Released by North American Newspaper Alliance)

McKechie's Reds

TAMPA, Fla., — Mild Bill McKechie, the Red leader, was standing under a Florida palm gazing in the general direction of a third pennant when we opened the debate.

"In 1939," we said, "you had two pitchers, Walters and Derringer, who won fifty-two ball games. In 1940 the same two pitchers won forty-two ball games. These two pitchers blew home with ninety-four victories in your two pennant years. How much longer can this last?"

Bill turned on one of his half-smiles. "They are still a pair of pretty fair pitchers," he said. "Bucky Walters is only thirty-one and he has been pitching only six years. Derringer is only thirty-four and Paul is a big, strong fellow who can go on his way a lot longer. You didn't notice them weakening much in the last world series, did you?"

There could be only one answer to that remark. We didn't see them weakening and neither did Detroit's Tigers.

"They dropped from fifty-two victories in 1939 to forty-two victories in 1940. Suppose they drop to thirty-two victories in 1941," I observed. "Then what?"

"I'm not a betting man," Bill said. "But would you like to bet on that? Both Bucky and Paul are still better than twenty-game winners."

"But as good as they are, we still have some other pitchers and ball players on the Reds. We have Junior Thompson who is only twenty-three years old and several other good hurlers. We have a good infield and a fast, good-hitting outfield."

"Good enough to win three pennants in a row?" I asked.

"I never said that," Bill answered. "You never heard me predict a pennant in my life."

Still Cheerful

Bill may be predicting no third pennant for his Redland supporters, but he is still cheerful.

"In many ways," he said, "we have stronger reserve support than we ever had. We not only have a good starting infield, but we also have on hand several rookies who look much better than most rookies look. You may hear more about a kid named Aleno at third later on if anything should happen to Werber. But I'd rather have about two weeks more before going into further details."

"We have a club here that has won two pennants and a world series. No bad ball club is going to turn in a trick like that. In McCormick, Joost, Frey and Werber we have one of the soundest infields in either league. By sound I mean smart, experienced ball players who know their jobs. Also, there's young Mattick at short. You'll hear a lot more about him later in the year. As I told you before I'm not bothering about my outfield."

"What about Ernie Lombardi?"

Outside of this question mark, the Reds look ready again to be up there swinging with the Dodgers, the Cardinals, or anyone else. Any ball club handled by Bill McKechie always has its share of hustle and spirit.

This isn't a great ball club, but it is a good one—well rounded in every way, with Lombardi back of the bat. And it still carries on the roster a brace of snipers by the names of Walters and Derringer, who, together, are still likely to win more than forty games again.

Petersburg and Kingwood Defeat Shepherdstown and Martinsburg

Large Crowd Sees Opening of Regional Tournament at Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va., March 13 (Special to the NEWS).—Petersburg and Kingwood went their way into the finals of Class B and Class A respectively here tonight by winning their games on the opening night of the regional tournament which will end Saturday night.

Petersburg staged a fourth quarter rally to overcome a slight lead which Shepherdstown held in the first three periods and turned back Harry Lothes's team 26 to 22 in the opening game. Petersburg will meet the winner of the Ridgeley-Rowlesburg game in the finals.

Kingwood Wins Easily

Kingwood took a 11 to 2 lead in the first quarter and easily defeated Martinsburg in the Class A game 42 to 21 to win the right to meet the winner of the Davis-Keyser game in the finals Saturday night.

Shepherdstown took a 4 to 0 lead over Petersburg in the first quarter and although outscored 9 to 6 in the second period were leading 10 to 9 at half-time. Shepherdstown outscored Petersburg in the third period 9 to 8 giving the Lothes coached team a two point (19 to 17) lead at the end of the third quarter.

After playing ragged ball in the first half Petersburg really hit its stride in the fourth quarter scoring nine points while holding Shepherdstown to three and giving "Whitey" Kendall's crew a hard-fought, well-earned victory. Sears with 14 points was outstanding for Petersburg.

Kingwood simply had too much class for Martinsburg and the Eastern Panhandle team never could solve the Preston County team's defense and most of their six field goals were made on long shots. Flick, Martinsburg's star center, was bottled up by Kingwood, but at that he was outstanding for the losers, getting three field goals and five out of eight fouls for a total of 11 points.

Cum Is Packed

Bolyard was the star of the Kingwood team, making fifteen points. The Potomac State college gymnasium where the tourney is being held was packed but an even larger crowd is expected tonight as both Ridgeley and Keyser play.

Ridgeley Plays Rowlesburg in Sectional

Mahnmen To Seek Eighteenth Win At Keyser

Winner Will Clash with Petersburg in Finals Saturday Night

Ridgeley high school will seek its eighteenth consecutive victory tonight when it meets Rowlesburg at Keyser, W. Va., in the Class B regional tournament.

Coach Bill Hahn has been working the team hard this week in an effort to have them in perfect condition for the regional tournament. The boys looked a bit stale in the sectional tournament last week and did not play up to their regular season form in coping the sectional title by defeating Port Ashby and Piedmont.

Rowlesburg Downs Aurora

Rowlesburg was good enough to win the Class B title in the Kingwood sectional last week defeating Pellowsville 46 to 37 in the semi-final and Aurora 35 to 33 in the final game.

Not a great deal is known here about Rowlesburg's record but the team did not play as tough a schedule this year as Ridgeley, however, the Preston county team is expected to give Ridgeley a real battle.

The winner of the Ridgeley-Rowlesburg game will meet Petersburg high in the final Class B game Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

There will be one Class A game tonight, Davis meeting Keyser with the Wildcats favored to take the contest and go into the finals tomorrow night against Kingwood which defeated Martinsburg 42 to 21 last night.

Fans To Follow Team

A large crowd of Ridgeley fans as well as many others from Mineral county will journey to Keyser tonight for the tournament as supporters of the team are confident they will not only defeat Rowlesburg tonight but take the final game Saturday night and go to the state tournament at Morgantown next week.

Hahn will use his regular lineup tonight and if the team returns to the form it showed in winning fifteen straight games in the regular season will stand an excellent chance to down Rowlesburg.

Vanishing Beaver Stages Comeback

OTTAWA, Canada, (AP)—Booming business at beaver pulpworks is the answer of Canada's busiest beast to rumors his day was done and that he would soon be as dead as the dodo.

Mines and resources division reports showed that the beaver is making a strong comeback and in his restored vigor is contributing to the welfare of his eternal neighbor—the Indian. Preserves in the James Bay area today have more than 8,000 beaver compared with 230 in 1933.

The Dominion Quebec and Ontario governments and the Hudson's Bay Company co-operated in establishment of the sanctuaries, with Indians as game wardens rather than trappers. At Rupert's House preserve in Quebec, 162 beaver had increased to 6,434 in 1940 and trapping of 300 was permitted.

Chance Shot Ranked In Second Place

Race horses sired by Chance Shot won $200,972 in 1940, thereby placing the Elmendorf Farm star second on the list of stallions in America. His biggest winners were Bushwhacker, Shot, Put, Fairy Chant and Your Chance.

Stanford Emphasizes Proper Timing

The streamlined T-formation used by Coach Clark Shaughnessy of Stanford, calls for quickstarting ball carriers with speed to burn. And one of the reasons for Stanford's success in 1940 with this style of play, which depends so much on split second timing, was a fast, tricky runner, Pete Kmetovic.

Ozark Hill Billies Will Play Faculty At Elk Garden

The Elk Garden Faculty basketball team will meet the Ozark Hill Billies, a girls' professional basketball team at Elk Garden Saturday night.

Birdies and Eagles Are Dime a Dozen as Stars Clash

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Birdies and eagles were a dime a dozen and favorites became also rags today as the national Pro-Amateur best ball match tournament here.

The underdog team of Lloyd Mangrum, Oak Park, Ill., and Morton Bright, Daytona Beach, Fla., amateur, scored one of the day's principal upsets in disposing of Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., and Frank Ford of Charleston, S. C., 2 and 1. Picard and Ford won the event in 1937.

Willie Goggin of San Francisco and Jennings Gordon of Rome, Ga., toppled the heavily backed team of Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, twice United States Champion, and Jim Ferrier, Australian Amateur Champion, 2 and 1.

Another surprise was the advance made by the lightly regarded combination of Lloyd Sparrow and Dick Van Kleeck of Jacksonville, Fla. They knocked par dizzies in winning over Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., and Walter Burkemo, crack Evanston, Ill., amateur, one up.

The finest golf of the day was turned in by the New York entry of Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, and Frank Strafaci of Great Neck. They were seven strokes under par for the sixteen holes needed to defeat Clyde Usmia, West Palm Beach, Fla., pro and Smiley Quick of Lakeland, Calif., 3 and 2. Wood and Strafaci had a best ball 29 eight under par to hold a three up lead at the turn. Wood was out in 30 on his own ball as he and his amateur partner carded an eagle and six birdies.

Slammin' Sammy Sneed of Hot Springs, Va., drew the gallery and he and his partner, Wilford Wehrle, Chicago, Ill., held a one-up lead at the turn over Al Nelson and Oscar Evers of Ponte Vedra, Fla., and won 2 and 1.

Defending Champion Horton Smith, of Oak Park, Ill., teamed with Charles Sheldon, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., stayed in the tournament by sinking a sizable putt on the twentieth green to beat Ed Brooks, Bartow, Fla., and Tommy Aycock, Jacksonville, Fla., one up.

The losing pros in today's first round received $25 each.

Mickey Livingston

Once a battery mate of Kirby Higbe, star pitcher formerly with the Phils and now with the Cubs, Thompson Orville (Mickey) Livingston, Phil rookie, plans to make a strong bid for a catching job with the last-place Philadelphia team.

Livingston, a right-handed hitter, batted 285 for the Springfield team of the Eastern league last year.

A native of Newberry, N. C., Livingston is a former Washington farm hand. He has spent four years in the minors.

In the Phils camp, Livingston will have to compete with Ben Warren, Bill Atwood and Walt Miles, the regular backstop staff.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP CINCINNATI REDS: THREE IN A ROW?

By JACK SORDS

JIMMY GLEESON, OUTFIELDER, OBTAINED FROM THE CUBS; ADDS SOME OFFENSIVE STRENGTH TO THE REDS

Generally considered to have the best pitching staff in the National league, the champion Cincinnati Reds again will be the favorites to cop the senior circuit's flag when the season opens in April.

As if the sensational hurling staff of Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer, Whitey Moore, Gene Thompson, Jim Turner and Joanny Vander Meer isn't enough, the Red management added Monte Pearson from the Yankees and expect to find a real prospect in Bob Logan, a left-hander from Indianapolis.

Pearson, one of the better pitchers in baseball, didn't click with the Yanks last year. Manager Bill McKee's ability to bring out the pitching talent of many others thought through undoubtedly will help Pearson and perhaps result in his becoming a regular starter.

Logan, who has seen service with Detroit and the Chicago Cubs, won 18 games for Indianapolis last year. He has spent nine years of his 10 years in baseball with the American association team.

Johnny Vander Meer, the no-hit star of 1938, may be Manager McKee's answer to a starting left-hander. Johnny spent some time with Indianapolis last season after starting the year with the Reds.

Biggest job for McKee, it appears is to fill a hole at shortstop.

When the Reds traded Billy Myers to the Cubs for Shortstop Bobby Mattick and Outfielder Jimmy Gleeson, McKee has three men for the job. Eddie Joost, who played in 88 games last season, is No. 1 on the list. Mattick will be a contender as will Floyd (Pepi) Young, ex-Pirate infielder who is 33 years old but a great defensive player.

While Ernie Lombardi will be the regular catcher, two newcomers, Nell Clifford from St. Paul and Dick West from Indianapolis, may make the big league step. West probably will be kept on the staff to help out the other catcher, Bill Baker.

New outfield talent includes Gleeson, who batted 313 for the Cubs last year; Frank Secory, up from Beaumont; Al Mele, a 340 hitter with Birmingham, and Kermit

Lewis, a 330 beller with Albany. Mike McCormick, the Reds' rookie star of last year, will have a fight on his hands to retain his position, although he had a creditable fresh year, batting an even .300.

While Sox May Cause Trouble In Junior Loop

Dykes Has Good Pitching Staff and Hard Hitting Outfield

By ROBERT MYERS
PASADENA, Calif., March 13 (AP)—James Joseph Dykes, the rag-grab man of baseball, may cause some of the big money clubs of the American League more grief this season if his newly acquired talent comes up to expectations, as Chicago White Sox observers predict.

Manager Dykes has a well-balanced pitching staff, headed by Ted Lyons. He has fair catching, a first class infield, now that the second base gap has been filled, and a hard hitting array of outfielders.

The White Sox have their share of question-marks, of course, but don't be surprised if the South Siders wind up in first division next fall. The boys were in there pitching for the championship itself as late as Sept. 15 of the 1940 season.

Knickerbocker at Second
Dykes believes he has one big worry of last season's team pretty much in hand, namely, second base. Leading candidate for this job is Billy Knickerbocker, a fugitive from the Yankee bench, where he sat, and sat—and collected good money—as understudy to Gordon, Crossett and Rolfe. The twenty-nine-year-old Whittier, Calif., man, was delighted to hit a regular playing assignment with the Sox.

Knickerbocker, once with Cleveland and the Browns, has to beat off challenges from Don Kolloway from the Oklahoma City club and Skeeter Webb, who would rather play shortstop but won't as long as Luke Appling continues his brilliant career.

Big Joe Kuhel will be back on first. His average last year was .280 but he drove in 90-odd runs to lead the club. Bob Kennedy will resume at third, provided Dario Lodigiani from Toronto via the Philadelphia Mackmen, doesn't take over.

Strong Outfield
The outfield will be composed of flyhawk Mike Kreevich, who suffered a batting slump last year, and the 300 sluggers Julius Solters and Taft Wright.

Larry Rosenthal will be on hand for utility service. Thurman Tucker and Dave Short, both from the Oklahoma City farm, also are outfield candidates.

The regular catcher will be Mike Tresh. Tommy Turner, an alum from Houston, and George Dickson from Oklahoma City, one of the famous Dickey family, round out backstopping corps.

Pitching? What would Dykes do if he had just one certain twenty-one-year-old, or even an eighteen-year-old pitcher? Or Ted Lyons ten years ago? At that, Lyons will take his usual once a week turn.

Dykes Still Active
Eddie Smith, Johnny Rigby—provided Uncle Sam doesn't get him—Thornton Lee and Bill Dietrich complete the regular starters.

Dykes believes that Johnny Humphries, from Virginia and the "forgotten man" of the Cleveland Indians for three years, may prove a prized acquisition. Newcomers Orval Grove, Jess Dobnerick and Jack Hallett are seeking a berth; Pete Appleton remains as the No. 1 relief hurler in place of Clint Brown, traded for Humphries, and Joe Haynes may be kept or sent back to Washington, depending on his sore arm troubles. There's one more man on the active list, the eighth infielder. His name is James Joseph Dykes, whom the press box boys say can still perform, even if he does have to leave the park after a game in an ambulance.

Six Are Injured As Cars Collide On Dingle Hill

Police Hold Two Men, Seek To Determine Which Was Driving

Six persons were injured about 10:30 o'clock last night when two cars collided on the McMillen highway at Dingle Hill, just within the city limits.

According to police, a car driven by an undetermined person, headed toward Cumberland, crashed against a machine operated by James W. Ash, of Wiley Ford, traveling toward Cresaptown.

Ash suffered scalp lacerations and a possible fractured left leg. Other occupants of his machine and their injuries are:

Mrs. Clara Hutton, 42, of Wiley Ford, W. Va., facial cuts and possible fracture of the right leg.

Charles Pratt, 24, of Piedmont, W. Va., cuts about the forehead and shock.

Paige Pratt, 16, of Wiley Ford, bruises and abrasions about the face and shock.

All Taken to Hospital

All were taken to Allegheny hospital. The Pratts were expected to be discharged after receiving treatment.

Riding in the other car were Asa Broadwater, 25, of 703 Leiper street, and Lawrence H. Clark, 27, of 426 Goethe street. Broadwater was taken to Memorial hospital by Allen Schlosberg, 439 Williams street, while Clark was rushed to Allegheny hospital suffering from shock and facial cuts.

State and city police, who investigated, said the car occupied by Broadwater and Clark was owned by Donald Hamer, of Westport. Both were ordered "held for investigation" when neither would admit being the driver of the car.

Broadwater and Clark were returning to Cumberland from Keyser, W. Va., they told officers.

Celanese Workers Escape

A car in front of the Ash machine, carrying seven Celanese employees to work, escaped being struck by the Hamer cars. Among the seven were Grace Conrad, who was driving Carl Stump, Samuel Peterson, Clyde Wolford and William Brinkman, all of Cumberland.

Both cars involved were badly damaged.

This will be the last of a series of all musical services which Rabbi Aaron H. Lefkowitz has prepared for rendition by the Temple Singers, Mrs. Blanche Stanton Gunter, soprano, and W. Wallace Ashley, baritone, with John S. Gridley at the organ.

Arias to be sung are, "Lord God of Abraham," "It is Enough," and "For the Mountains Will Depart," by Ashley; "Hear Ye Israel," "If With All Your Hearts," "O Rest in the Lord," and "Thou Shall the Righteous," by Mrs. Stanton, and "Help Me Man of God," (Elijah-Widow scene), duet.

The complete story of the oratorio has been annotated by the rabbi in the form of a libretto and will be distributed to all attending the service. The public is invited.

Appeal Is Filed By James Smith

An appeal was taken by James Smith, colored, of Wincoo street, yesterday in trial magistrates court after he was fined $30 on an assault charge preferred by Loretta Banks. Smith was released under $50 bond pending the April term of circuit court. He pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew.

Also pass the word on to Police Chief Oscar A. Eversman for consideration in his department. Public contributions will be acknowledged."

William Harrison, 19, local grocery deliveryman, and winner of the "National Legion Medal for Outstanding Heroism," at a special ceremony staged last evening by Squadron No. 13, Sons of the American Legion, at the Legion home. ### Would Elect Three Members Every Four Years Starting in 1942

An amendment to the public education laws proposing that the Allegheny County Board of Education be composed of three persons elected every four years was introduced to the Senate last night by State Senator Robert Kimble, of Allegheny County.

According to the bill the first election would be held in November, 1942, the term of the present members expiring at that time.

Delegate Jonathan Sleeman last night introduced a bill in the House providing for the purchase by the City of Frostburg of the Allegheny cemetery from the Allegheny Cemetery Corporation at a cost not exceeding $10,000.

As drawn up in Sleeman's bill, the mayor and council would appoint an "Allegheny Cemetery Commissioners" board, serving without pay, to control it. The cost would be repaid by the future sale of lots.

CIO Here Withholds Endorsement Of Successor for Rep. William Byron

Eagles To Dedicate New Home March 30

The new home of Cumberland Aerie of Eagles will be dedicated here Sunday afternoon, March 30, at 2 o'clock according to an announcement just made by the Dedication committee.

A two-day celebration will be held by the Eagles and a large crowd is expected to visit the new home at 65 North Mechanic street March 30 and 31.

Following the dedication Sunday March 30 there will be a dinner at the Algonquin hotel at 6 p. m. Monday there will be "Open House" from 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. with dancing from 9:15 p. m. to 1 a. m.

The Western Maryland Industrial Union Council last night voted to withhold endorsement of any candidate for the House of Representatives from the Sixth Congressional district pending disposition of existing labor legislation and the anti-sabotage bill now before the legislature.

"We have decided to wait and see who our friends are," Lindley Dye, president of the council, explained last night in making the announcement following a meeting at Rubber Workers hall.

Last night's action was taken after a report was presented by members of the executive committee of the council who conferred Tuesday with State CIO leaders in Annapolis regarding the forthcoming election to fill the seat held by the late William D. Byron.

CIO leaders said the Allegheny county delegation had expressed itself as being against the anti-sabotage measure which labor leaders declare has "gone too far" and is "anti-labor rather than anti-sabotage."

The Maryland labor movement is also keenly interested in seeing pending labor legislation pass as soon as possible, CIO leaders added.

Patrons of the local public library and other local readers of books will be interested in statistics compiled by the federal Census Bureau showing the groupings thereof in this country.

The classification shows that the Bible is still America's best seller. The figures, covering 1939, reveal that the annual output of Bibles, Testaments and parts of the Bible published in separate covers to be 7,927,848 volumes, compared with 5,579,317 in 1937. Both 1937 and 1939 recorded tremendous increases in total number printed.

Officials of Local Draft Board No. 3 announced yesterday that they are receiving numerous requests as to why some men who reside in Maryland are forced to go to West Virginia and Pennsylvania for examination and are sent to camps from those states instead of Maryland.

A spokesman for the board said that perhaps 100 to 150 men who reside in the Rawlins, Ellerslie and Mt. Savage sections, gave RFD addresses in either West Virginia or Pennsylvania when they registered because they live on those routes and therefore their cards were sent to draft boards in those states.

Local Board No. 3 learned yesterday from Lieut. Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of the Selective Service act in Maryland, who was in Cumberland for a conference with board officials, that the cards can be re-transferred from West Virginia and Pennsylvania boards to Cumberland.

Selective Service Is Topic at Jaycee Dinner Meeting

Two Officers Are Targets For Questions of Potential Soldiers

A trim, square-jawed lieutenant colonel with plenty of snap and a stocky medical officer with a military haircut last night wasted no words as they answered the questions posed by a room-full of young men, between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-six, with clipped, to-the-point answers.

The two officers were Lieut. Col. Henry Stanwood, state director of Selective Service, and Lieut. Col. Amos Koonitz, state medical director of Selective Service. The men who posed the questions at the Central Y.M.C.A. comprised the membership of the Junior Association of Commerce and interested guests. All questions pertained to various phases of "Selective Service."

Inquired Leo Brown, "is there any provision in the act that would allow the government to keep draftees longer than the one year period provided for?" Replied Lieut. Col. Stanwood, "yes."

Attorney Asks Question

"Why," asked David Kauffman, "are so many men, who are passed in Cumberland, turned down by medical examiners when they reach the induction station in Baltimore?"

Replied Lieut. Col. Koonitz, "because the examination is more thorough at the induction station."

Biggest single factor resulting in turn-downs is insufficient teeth, Lieut. Col. Koonitz said who advanced a conclusion based entirely on observation and not on statistics that young men today are not generally as healthy as those who were drafted in 1917. This may be due to the fact that the country has been through an acute depression during which time many persons did not receive enough medical attention, particularly dental attention, he said.

Mental cases result in more turn-downs, Lieut. Col. Koonitz said who observed "we take them if they have a mental age above ten years but not below ten years."

Tuberculosis a Factor

Tuberculosis is another cause for turn-downs at the induction station, the physician said, stating that all incoming men are x-rayed for tuberculosis. Last month, thirty-five cases of tuberculosis turned up at the medical board, he said.

There are other causes, he said, but teeth, mental cases and tuberculosis are the "Big Three" as far as turn-downs are concerned.

Explaining what Kauffman termed the "disparity" between the examination of local physicians and induction center medical men, Lieut. Col. Koonitz pointed out that last month twenty-five hernia cases were turned down which various local board physicians passed. Few advanced hernias show up at induction headquarters, he added, stating that a majority of the cases are new and frequently difficult to detect.

Want Perfect Specimens

"However, this army will be free of the defects present in the army of 1917," Lieut. Col. Koonitz declared. All syphilis, mental cases and men with tuberculosis will be weeded out right at the start he said. Only the most fit are being taken this time.

Another cause for turn-downs at induction headquarters is non-medical in nature, Koonitz said. This concerns men who have been convicted of felonies. Just before being sworn, men are warned that all FBI records are checked and fingerprints forwarded. Once a man is inducted and his criminal record discovered, he is immediately given a dishonorable discharge from the army. Acquainted with his fact, all men with criminal records drop out then and there, Koonitz said.

Asked William Wilson, Jr., what

Today's Lesson in Flag Etiquette

The flag should always be flown or displayed with the stars to the left and with the stripes floating to the right.

When hanging with the stripes in a vertical position, the stars should always appear in upper left hand corner.

On parade the American flag always claims the place of honor—at the right.

When flown at half-staff the flag should be hoisted to the peak for an instant and then lowered to the half-staff position. Before lowering the flag it should be raised again to the peak. On Memorial Day, May 30, the flag should be displayed at half-staff from sunrise until noon and at full staff from noon until sunset.

V.F.W. Introduces Series on Proper Usage of the Flag

Five Daily Lessons in 'Flag Etiquette' Will Appear in This Paper

In time with America's national defense program and patriotic emotions at high pitch, display of the American flag is becoming increasingly popular.

In response to a widespread demand from the general public for information pertaining to the proper usage of the flag the Cumberland News in co-operation with the National Department of Americanism, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, today introduces the first of a series of five daily lessons in "Flag Etiquette."

Illustrated instructions are based on National Flag Code regulations, as approved by representatives of a large number of patriotic and civic bodies and endorsed by the United States Army and the United States Navy.

These rules constitute the unwritten law of the flag and this feature is presented with the hope it will prove helpful in creating in the hearts and minds of American citizens a greater reverence for the Stars and Stripes and the principles for which it stands.

Watch the columns of the Cumberland News for this streamlined course in flag appreciation. It will answer all your questions on how to salute the flag, how it should be flown on patriotic occasions, how it should be carried in parades and many other rules about the flag which all patriotic citizens should observe.

According to the announcement made by Grayson L. The Trades Council also announced it was backing House Bill 177, known as the Barber's bill.
